HICKSVILLE, O., Sept. 4.—Private Guy O. Driver, 716 ambulance corps, arrived at Hoboken Saturday, August 16. He was sent to Camp Merritt, where he received his honorable discharge and arrived at his home in Hicksville on Sunday, August 24. Mr. Driver says much active service but returned in fine physical condition.

ALBION, Ind., Sept. 4.—Mel Denler, of general hospital No. 28, Fort Sheridan, Illinois, arrived in Albion Tuesday evening on a thirty-day furlough. Mr. Denler was wounded on the fighting front in France more than a year ago and is still receiving treatment. His praise for the Red Cross work to the wounded is of the mettle that leaves no controversy.

DEMPSEY WILL CONSIDER NO OFFERS UNTIL END OF TOUR

After That He Will Talk Business to Anyone Willing to Take Chance.

JACK KEARNS IS WITH HIM

Champion Jack Dempsey, the big man of the prize fight world, arrived in this city at 12:30 o'clock over the Pennsylvania from Chicago, accompanied by his manager Jack Kearns, and a number of his vaudeville company. They went at once to the Anthony hotel and were located in room 135.

A News and Sentinel reporter accompanied the party from the station to the hotel. On the arrival at the room Dempsey removed his outer garments and dropping across the bed he had work to keep his eyes open while questions were asked. When asked which he liked the better, fighting or the stage, he replied fighting. His next best choice was golf, of which game he is a strong booster.

Dempsey has a very good word for Jess Willard and stated that Willard was the toughest and gamest man he ever met. Dempsey himself is a perfect example of strength. His body is thoroughly tanned, showing the outdoor life he lives, for he still plods through certain of his exercises when at all possible.

Manager Jack Kearns stated when asked relative to future fighting that no offers of any sort would be considered until after the present tour, which still runs 12 weeks. Kearns is receiving cablegrams by the dozens from Europe, and innumerable letters from various points in this country from match-makers, anxious to pit their men against the champion.

There are two men in Europe whom Manager Kearns thinks well of, being Becker and Carpenter. In this country, Dominick Tortorick, of New Orleans, manager of Billy Miske, and James F. Dougherty, of Philadelphia, who is backing the Akron marvel, Bob Martin, champion of the overseas forces.

Kearns, from his conversation seems to figure that Miske would be the toughest man of the two for Dempsey to take on, though he gave Martin a good deal of credit for his prowess as a fighter and the record he made overseas.

Kearns Talks. "Immediately following the close of the remaining twelve weeks of this tour," said Kearns, "Jack is going to Texas, where he is interested in land, and take a vacation. After that we may take a trip to Europe, or wherever the money is and fight. I would rather it be in this country, and so would Jack, but that will develop later."

Included in the Dempsey-Kearns party is "Big Bill" Tate, the huge negro fighter, who assisted the champion to obtain the height of efficiency for the big fight on July 4.

Tate is a monstrous man, and is a clever fighter, having the shade in fights over Harry Wells, Sam Langford, Kid Northfork and Joe Jeanette. Dempsey and Tate will give a boxing exhibition in this city at the Majestic theater both this afternoon and tonight.

Coming here from Milwaukee, where they showed last night, they will leave tomorrow for Cleveland, where exhibitions will be given tomorrow and Saturday. In that city Matt Hinkle and others have arranged to give the champion a banquet, and incidentally pit the Dayton (Ohio) big man, Terry Keller, against Dempsey for an exhibition. If this occurs, Manager Kearns will allow the show to take place, for Cleveland parties have said that the champion was afraid to meet Keller, which has gotten under the skin of the Dempsey party.

leased Tuesday after having been held here on a charge of murder, in getting an honorable discharge from the U. S. army. Rowe, after he had been brought here on a charge of murdering Joseph Parrant, local grocery clerk, was given a dishonorable discharge from the service board because of his being held here on a murder charge.

Rowe, according to the sheriff, was one of the best behaved prisoners ever held in the Allen county jail, and during his imprisonment served as "cell boss," in which capacity he saw to it that all of the other prisoners kept themselves and their quarters properly clean and in order.

He served twenty-two months as mess sergeant of the headquarters company, Fourteenth field artillery, and participated in four major engagements on the western front. After securing an honorable discharge from the service, Rowe contemplates moving to France with his fourteen-year-old son.

SEPT. 10 SET FOR FIRST OF MEMBERSHIP MEETINGS

Chamber of Commerce to Seek Suggestions for Program of Work From Members.

NEW WORKERS WANTED

September 10 is the date that was today set for the first of a series of group membership meetings at the Chamber of Commerce. The meetings are to call the members in groups of fifty to sound out individuals on the needs of Fort Wayne with a view of building up a definite program of work for the chamber for the coming year.

Two meetings are to be held on the night of the tenth, and likewise on the eleventh and twelfth. No further meetings will be held until the sixteenth, when three meetings will be held, and thereafter three meetings will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights of each week until the entire membership has been called together in the group meetings. These group meetings are to culminate in a general membership meeting later in the fall.

Want New Workers. "There is a big and worthy purpose behind these meetings," said Secretary Bodine this morning in speaking of the coming meetings. "They will aim to get the personal views and wishes of each member of the Chamber of Commerce regarding the things that he thinks are the most important for the future development of Fort Wayne."

"Also, we want to obtain some new workers. While the work of the 'old guard' of the Chamber of Commerce has always been welcomed and greatly appreciated, there are still hundreds of members who never do actual work for the Chamber of Commerce. Their interest has been mostly of a casual order, as they have believed that this 'old guard' would do everything that was necessary."

That this method of personal contact with the members of the commerce bodies has been tried out in other cities with wonderful success, is the statement of Secretary Bodine. Members are to be called in alphabetical groups and not by class or bureau groups, so that there will be a general interchange of ideas. Three purposes have been listed for the program of work which it is hoped will develop in the coming meetings. It must accurately reflect the wishes of the membership; express the outstanding needs of the community, and be an inspiration to those who believe in the city and in its future development.

RESUME TRADE WITH GERMANY SAYS GARY

Head of United States Steel Company Urges Revival of Exchanges.

WILL BENEFIT AMERICA

(By Associated Press.) BOSTON, Sept. 4.—Immediate resumption of business relations with Germany and Austria was advocated today by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel corporation, in an address before the annual meeting of the American Bar association. Mr. Gary prefaced his speech with a declaration that the majority of the people of America were in favor of the peace treaty and the league of nations and that he would assume that it would be adopted without material change.

The re-establishment of trade between the United States and the central powers was urged by the speaker on the ground that we need German and Austrian goods and also that such purchases would have a decided influence in stabilizing international exchange.

"From an economic standpoint," he said, "considering of paramount significance the question of benefit to ourselves we ought to resume business relations with Germany and Austria at once."

American business men were warned that they were facing the fiercest commercial struggle in the history of the world.

As one essential of success in the coming business struggle the speaker maintained that we must have "a merchant marine equal in every particular to the best, unhampered by laws, rules or regulations which might interfere with practical business operations."

ELECTRO-TECHNIC PICNIC PLANS FULLY COMPLETED

Entries in the Athletic Events Are Nearly All Made for the Meet.

SPECIAL CAR SERVICE

Committees in charge have made final arrangements for the picnic of the Electro Technic club, to be held next Saturday afternoon at the Elks Country club grounds. The affair is being planned by the club, but all male employees of the General Electric company are invited to the picnic. It is thought by the officials of the club that 5,000 men will attend. Special cars will be run on the Robinson park line to care for the crowds attending, the first car leaving at 1:15 p. m. and one leaving every 15 minutes until 8:00 o'clock when cars will be run every half hour.

Many attractions have been arranged for but the athletic events will be the feature of the day. Of these events, perhaps the most interesting, will be the baseball game, the opponent being the married men's team and the single men's team. Entries are not entirely completed for this event but much interest is shown in the winning game.

The Tug-of-War.
Of the other events the tug-of-war, married men against single men, is creating much comment. The contest will be held on the Robinson park, the losing team to receive a ducking with the defeat. Four teams of ten men each have made their entries.

The other athletic events of the day are trap-shooting, a departmental relay race of one mile, standing high jump and 100-yard dash. To those who wish to enter the shooting contest, guns will be loaned free of charge in case the contestant has none of his own. There are from 20 to 25 entries made on each of the individual events at this time. Refreshments will be furnished free of charge on the ground in the evening.

FORT WAYNE BECOMES UNIT.

Local Wabash Safety Problems Will Be Handled Here in the Future.
Problems concerning safety of Wabash workmen of Fort Wayne will be handled here in the future since Fort Wayne has become a safety unit. Heretofore the practice has been to take care of all such matters of the Peru division at the division headquarters at Peru.

The change was brought about by an order from Fred Meyers, general superintendent of safety, for the Wabash system. Hereafter the local unit will handle all local affairs, reports to Mr. Meyers at St. Louis monthly.

A meeting of the Fort Wayne unit was held this week, with Trainmaster G. W. Smith presiding. An inspection of the unit was given by Trainman H. E. Nestle, who explained some new safety practices recently adopted.

HAD RELATIVES HERE.

George Bracht Was an Uncle of Mrs. E. J. Lennon.
George Bracht, the Wabash engineer who was killed at Toledo, O., Tuesday night when the yard engine of which he was in charge, collided with another switching locomotive, was a brother of the late Joseph Bracht, an engineer on the Nickel Plate railroad. Mrs. E. J. Lennon, of this city, is a niece and left to-day for Toledo, to attend the funeral. Peter Miller of Toledo, road foreman of engines for the Lake Shore, is a brother-in-law of the deceased.

WILL RUN SPECIAL COACH.

Arrangements have been made by the Pennsylvania railroad for train No. 118 to carry an extra coach next Monday morning, to accommodate those traveling to the national encampment at Columbus. It is anticipated that about sixty persons will make the trip from this city. The train will leave Fort Wayne at 6:05 a. m., and going by way of Bucyrus, will arrive at Columbus at 11 a. m. Special rates are offered to members of the G. A. R. and to the W. R. C. and their families. A round trip ticket costing $3.35. This reduced rate will be given only on presentation of a certificate issued by the local post commander.

RECEIVES INJURY.

J. H. Thomas will be unable to work for a few days, on account of an injury received yesterday. While working inside the firebox of an engine, Thomas received a slight injury to his eye by foreign matter flying into it, causing inflammation of that organ.

IN EAST ON BUSINESS.

J. W. Anspach, superintendent of the Madison Lamp works, will be at different places in the east for a few days, transacting business for the company.

PAY CHECK THIS MONTH.

According to a bulletin issued from the superintendent's office, pay checks for the employees of the Pennsylvania railroad, will be in the hands of the distributing agents for delivery Tuesday, September 3, and Tuesday, September 23.

TAKES EASTERN TRIP.

B. E. Beman, switch tender in the Pennsylvania yards, left last night for Philadelphia, where he will attend the Knights Templars' triennial convention. He expects to visit New York before his return.

SHOP AND RAIL NOTES.

J. J. Addleworth, machine operator in the Pennsylvania car shops, returned to his duties this morning, after a sickness of a few days.

C. C. Whiteman, Pennsylvania cab builder, was absent from his duties today.

W. C. Lighty, Pennsylvania cab builder, was not at work today.

C. E. Hearn, freight fireman on the Pennsylvania lines, was not at work this morning on account of illness.

C. W. Meyers, laborer in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, did not report for work this morning.

Blacksmith J. C. Traxler, employed in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, was away from his duties today.

J. R. Parker was unable to report for work this morning, on account of sickness. He is employed in the Pennsylvania erecting shop.

R. Kensell, Pennsylvania machinist, employed in the erecting shop, returned to work today, after a two days' absence.

On account of sickness, F. D. Noble, helper in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, was not at work today.

S. Doriot, helper in the erecting shop of the Pennsylvania railroad, resigned today. He expects to return to Notre Dame to resume his collegiate work.

J. J. Kilkelly, who has been in military service for the last few months, has reported for work as Pennsylvania passenger fireman, was not on duty today.

Because of the illness of his wife, L. B. Kirkpatrick, freight fireman on the Pennsylvania lines, did not report for work today.

BELIEVES IT HAS SAVED HIS LIFE

"Would Be Ungrateful Not To Tell Others About Tanlac," He Says.

SUFFERED FOR TEN YEARS

"I see you are a very busy man," said the special Tanlac representative, who had N. P. De-laney's remarkable recovery and called at his place of business recently to ascertain the facts.

"Yes," replied Mr. Delaney, "but I'm not too busy to make a statement for Tanlac, for I believe the medicine has saved my life, and I feel that I would be ungrateful not to give others the benefit of my experience."

Mr. Delaney lives in the Jim block, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and is foreman for a large warehouse. Mr. Delaney, before taking up his present work, was for sixteen years fireman on the Rock Island railroad.

"I never weighed over one hundred and forty-five pounds in my life until after taking Tanlac," explained Mr. Delaney, "but I now balance the scales at one hundred and sixty-three. I am, of course, proud of my increase in weight, but the thing that makes me rejoice is the return of my health. Ten years ago I began suffering with my stomach and the trouble had become so serious that even my family physician told me there was no hope for me. There was a burning sensation like fire in my stomach, with awful pains and my heart would palpitate like it was trying to jump out of my body. I tried every kind of medicine that was recommended to me and was under treatment numbers of times, but with it all I kept getting worse."

At this time I was firing on the Rock Island and one day after the usual bad spells I bought a bottle of Tanlac, as I had seen it so highly recommended. I think I was suffering as much as anyone could and live, but almost as soon as I started on Tanlac I commenced to feel better. I have used five bottles now and am just a well man again. I can eat just anything I want and never suffer the least pain or discomfort afterwards. My stomach feels like a new one and I have been built up and strengthened until I can work hard every day and feel none the worse for it. For me Tanlac is the only medicine and I honestly believe if I had not taken it I would not be alive today. There's nothing too good to say for a medicine that will do such things for suffering people."

Tanlac is sold in Fort Wayne by Meyer Bros. & Co., in Woodburn by Peeling Drug Co., and in Harlan by G. A. Reedder.

HOLD INDUSTRIAL EXHIBIT

An industrial exhibit of the work accomplished at the play grounds is being conducted this week at Weiser park. This afternoon the finals in the tennis tournament of the play grounds of the city were played on the courts at Weiser park.

The work of the play grounds committee, under the direction of the school board, has been very successful during the past year. More children have found the opportunities of the play grounds an attraction and have made journeys there from all parts of the city. The play grounds are under the most competent supervisors and the children are cared for oft times better than they would be at home.

The Query-Quarry

Quite Young.

Dear Query Quarry: I am a young girl 15 years old and would like very much to have you answer a few questions. There is a soldier boy who is four years older than I am. He is very nice. He has asked to take me to a show several times and I would not let him. Do you think I am too young? My folks do not object to him and permit him to take me home after the show. But he is not satisfied with that and wants to take me to the show.

Also would it be all right to write to another boy who has been visiting here?

BROWN EYES.

In case the boy writes to you it would be proper for you to reply, keeping the correspondence, of course, on the basis of pure friendship.

If the soldier boy is permitted to accompany you home I see no reason why he should not take you to the show. I notice your letter is postmarked from a small town. Boys and girls go out together at a younger age in a place of that size, but 15 is very young.

Most Any Kind.

Dear Query Quarry: Will you please tell me what kind of evening dress a girl of 15 should wear to a party? What color would be becoming to a girl with brown eyes and dark hair? Is a girl that age too young to dance with a boy four or five years older?

The kind of evening dress depends on your purse. A soft pink satin made with short sleeves and moderately low neck should be very becoming. It is quite all right to dance with any man or boy present, since it is understood that you would not be allowed to attend a party where anyone objectible was present.

Do Not Propose.

Dear Query Quarry: I am a man of 18 and am desperately in love with a young lady four years my senior. I have stopped school and am working. I make $35 a month and wonder if it would be proper for me to ask the young lady to marry me. She is an orphan and seems to care a great deal about me. I look much older than I am and have always gone with older girls. I think this girl would appreciate a good home and husband. Give me your honest opinion for I am

LOVE SICK.
Ninety-five dollars a month would not provide such a tremendously fine home at this present age, and while the young lady may be fond of you now I am wondering if you would be so fond of her after marriage. You really haven't had much chance to see the world and a girl of 22 is as old as a man of 25. It wouldn't be fair to you to advise a proposal.

Grounds for Suspicion.

Dear Query Quarry: I have been asked by a young man to write to him. He lives in the city and I can't see the use when he can call me on the telephone. Also I know he lets the fellows read his letters. Please advise.

YOU ARE RIGHT to be suspicious. Don't send him any letters. He will probably boast of his conquest to his friends.

EFFORT FOR NEW NATIONAL GUARD FOR HOOSIER STATE

(Special to the News.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4.—Harry H. Smith, adjutant general of Indiana, will make a tour of the state, beginning in about ten days for the purpose of bringing about the organization of a new national guard in Indiana. Letters have been coming to his office from all parts of the state urging the formation of a guard to take the place of the national guard, which went into federal service during the war and of the present state militia.

In a speech before the American club here, General Smith told of the work of the state militia at Hammond, and pointed to this as illustrating the necessity for the organization of a national guard.

STOLEN SWEETS

An Excellent Home Remedy For Constipation, Liver and Stomach Disorders

Get a sixty-cent bottle of Milkapepsa at any drug store and take a teaspoonful two or three times a day in a little water. Milkapepsa sweetens the stomach, aids digestion, stops bloating, invigorates the torpid liver or increased action, causing an increased flow of bile, which aids the digestion and also softens and stimulates the bowel action.

This is a very excellent preparation for constipation as it promotes the natural bowel action by softening the waste matter and allowing it to pass through the bowels by causing the bowel muscles to expand, hereby giving them the natural movement.

After Milkapepsa has been used several days, a teaspoonful two or three times a week will keep the stomach, liver and bowels in excellent condition. Milkapepsa is not only exceptionally fine for children and delicate people, but very satisfactory for the most robust adult.

Note—Meyer Bros., Wayne street store report a special demonstration this week of Milkapepsa, by a specialist, who will guarantee perfect satisfaction to the customer or money refunded, as it is considered the finest preparation which can be obtained for chronic constipation, liver and stomach disorders.

Without awaiting the fate of the league, this government should give itself a mandatory for Mexico and proceed to mandate.

Mr. Wilson starts his junket for the league with a declaration of confidence—which obviously raises the question, why does he go?

The sniping of American aviators by Caranza's soldiers on the border can scarcely be called fresh offense. It is merely the emphasis of contempt.

There seems to be a general lull everywhere in the campaign against bootleggers. But there is no reason to suppose that campaigners do not also occasionally get dry.

The Journal-Gazette insults the Indiana body of the Ancient Order of Hibernians by deliberately garbling the resolutions adopted by the organization in convention here.

Mr. Wilson is telling the people that they should back him up for the salvation of the league of nations. Of course, he'll tell them frankly why they should and that will involve candid explanations of why he made Fiume fish of the Italians and Shantung flesh of the Japs.

The efforts of the socialists to get together seem to make dubious headway. And this is not strange when it is remembered how many breeds of socialists there are. A good many of them are not for the Lenin brand and some do not want, for instance, to rape a penitentiary to get 'Gene Debs' for a presidential candidate.

Terre Haute women have federated to swat profiteering and will fix their own prices—meaning merely that they will swear off buying. This goes straight for everybody except on bargain days, when the obligation of membership will probably go into a state of temporary suspension.

Will President DeValera of the Irish republic receive the same treatment when he speaks here that the national president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians got from the Trumpet of Erin Libre and Covenanter's Everlasting Horn? The head of the Hibernians got the snub direct and we suspect that President DeValera will land without greeting, speak without hearing and embark without discovery.

One of the agreeable reflections arising from the prospective enlargement of the Irene Byron hospital is that after it has served the purposes of the government the institution in its expanded state will still be there for its large services to community purposes. This is not a selfish or sordid view of the matter, but simply shows in what manner the benefits of this benevolent enterprise will be doubly conferred.

Perhaps the affair has ceased to be any of the public's business, but the mere suggestion of it will serve to whet a general curiosity to know whether or not the Chicago Tribune has paid Henry Ford the six cents it owed him for damages to his good repute and fair name. And Henry, when he gets 'em, should cherish those half dozen coppers. They stand for the difference between what the Tribune said he was and what the jury thought he was. The sum isn't much of a token, but it's what there is of it.

The situation of Austria is about as pathetic as the worst of her enemies ever could have wished. From the position of third continental power before the war she has degenerated to a petty nation whereof the greater part is the city that once was the proudest capital in Europe. A hand's breadth of territory and a metropolis that perforce must shrivel to an almost unpeopled city make up the empire of Austria today. The humble aspiration of German-Austria to join herself to the German empire will scarcely be realized if the league of nations become established and have its way and the shorn dominion of the Hapsburgs doubtless will have to make its course the best it can in any fashion it can. The fable of the frog that would be an ox remains a meaty lesson.

The self-ordained and self-anointed organ of Ireland Free seeks to explain its recency to its adopted cause in garbling the resolutions adopted at the state convention of Ancient Order of Hibernians here by forcing two of its reporters to stand up in public confession that they were asleep at the switch. It's a palpable bit of trickery that doesn't explain and won't deceive. There was no need that reporters should go through an elaborate and absurd mummery of copying the Hibernian resolutions as the words of them fell from the lips of the secretary, for official transcripts of the declaration were furnished the press, one copy being given the News and Sentinel shortly after 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, just a few minutes too late to be available that day. The Journal-Gazette had many hours in which to procure a full and accurate copy of the resolutions and beyond any doubt was provided an official transcript just as this newspaper had been. The Journal-Gazette cannot escape. It did betray the Hibernians by garbling their resolutions, for it meanly and viciously and with studied purpose slashed out the Indiana Hibernian order's hearty approbation of Senators New and Watson. In any case that would have been the uttermost of partisan meanness, but in a newspaper that exploits itself without rest as the mouthpiece of Ireland and the Irish it was a flagrant betrayal.

THE FUTILE JOURNEY.

It cannot be doubted that President Wilson knows as surely as any one can that the treaty of peace will procure approval of the senate only after essential reservations have qualified American acceptance of the covenant of the league. Without these reservations the treaty cannot command enough votes to insure that the senate will ratify it. Yet Mr. Wilson is off upon a month's junket over the country to exploit a pretense that he is going to force the senate to ratify the treaty as he presented it, "without the crossing of a 't' or dotting of an 'i.'" Mr. Wilson will achieve no victory of the sort. Nor does he expect to. He knows full well what the situation in the senate is today. He will find that there is no demand among the people for ratification of the terms of peace and acceptance of the covenant without plain reservations of this nation's sovereignty, independence, policy in the western hemisphere and constitutional integrity. Everybody wants the state of war with Germany brought conclusively to an end in the way wars are ended. That there may be no prolonged delay of this a good many senators and large bodies of their constituencies are not unwilling to accept the league of nations, provided it be prevented from hamstringing this nation, though having little faith in it. But between ratification on these terms and ratification on the unqualified terms Mr. Wilson insists must prevail there is a broad difference. Mr. Wilson will not be able to overcome this difference by his vocal appeal. Why is he out upon this futile errand, away again for a long period from his place at a time when the problems and the responsibilities of the government can absorb no delinquency to duty? The answer to this question will explain his stubborn insistence upon adventuring abroad to undertake his domination of the peace conference, while the country gaped in wonder and his party in congress stood aghast at the pretentiousness of an egotism that so handsily could conceive the wrecking of solemn and hitherto inviolate precedents and lightly take the risks of that eager quest of immortal fame. He fared badly in that enterprise and he will fare no better in this, but will return to the inevitable, silently storming in an unrepentant conceit.

BAKERIZED EFFICIENCY.

Eleven thousand automobiles exposed to the weather and going to the bow-wows may perhaps be considered a petty item in the general practice of waste and ruin by the war department. Testimony given the house special committee at Washington, now investigating war department affairs, was to the effect that at one point in Maryland such number of automobiles was assembled, some of them crated and others not crated, but all them going the way such property inevitably must go when exposed and neglected. How many similar instances there may be over the country and in France it will take time to find out, but there is no reason to suppose the case cited to the committee is the only one. Word has come from France repeatedly that the waste of valuable war material belonging to the American expeditionary forces is altogether beyond belief—waste of material that it would be possible to salvage, yet lying neglected or committed to bonfires. It is a sad and expensive commentary on the methods of Secretary Baker, who was described by President Wilson as a having a passion for efficiency. When the war really is over and the fragments gathered and expense accounts finally footed, it will be found that the extravagance in expenditure, the waste in materials and the destruction of property that somehow could have been salvaged will amount up to a total going into billions. The necessities of war beget high costs and even extravagance, but neither this country nor any other has ever beheld such a saturnalia of waste as has marked Secretary Baker's conduct of the war department. From prodigious overcharges for getting the home cantonments built and launching the scandalous and futile airplane program down to the destruction of American property in France and the neglect of war materials here at home, the course of the war department has seemed to be to spend two dollars where one would answer. What the war department means to do with thousands upon thousands of automobiles, auto trucks and other transport equipment remaining useless on its hands appears to be known to no one. But it is rusting and decaying and with its decay goes a dead waste of money. Twenty billions as our part of the war bill may seem high, but it can be accounted for by the recklessness of the war department with the money the people lent and must pay back to themselves.

A PORTENT OF DANGER.

An outbreak of influenza in the St. Vincent's Catholic orphan's home in this city is a portent of danger. This is the more so a portent since it transpires that a considerable number of those already afflicted in the present outbreak passed through similar illness during the great influenza epidemic last fall, winter and spring. There follows from this fact the conclusion that a victim of the scourge does not gain immunity from his experience, as is the case in some other infectious diseases, but may readily succumb to a second invasion of the influenza germ, though a subsequent prostration may be less severe than in the first instance. The lesson of it is that no person who survived an attack of influenza in last season's epidemic should take immunity for granted and neglect any of the precautions that general experience and scientific knowledge lay down as essential.

There are isolated reports of influenza flaring up again and for us here, as everywhere, they should hang out the danger signals. The season is at hand when we may look for recurrence of the scourge that last year, beginning in early autumn, swept the country with heavy misfortune. While it is true that medical men apprehend the disease may be coming winter prove of less malignant type than last winter, there can be no surety of that. The best hostage for the public health will lie in timely measures to meet and check the scourge at its start. That there may be something like general and uniform measures for the entire country is an encouraging prospect, but even that cannot at its best be made to serve for local recourses and personal care. Each of us can do much for his own security and the protection of those about him and this is the sort of vigilance that will accomplish much for effective intervention.

The ravages of influenza during the few months it raged at its fiercest cost America more lives than the great war in Europe. Indeed, the deaths rolls from some of the great camps and cantonments were more tragic than the casualty lists from Chateau-Thierry, San Mehiel and the Argonne, for the boys who died on this side perished in many instances needlessly and in all cases futilely. A less malignant type of the disease than ran its course last winter may leave a less deadly trail, but if it should have the same sweep its economic consequences will not be less serious.

All in all, there is forewarning of what may be expected and to begin such measures of intervention as ought to be taken.

Private Opinions Publicly Expressed

"Swimming Pool Charity."

To the Editor of the News:

As there has been nothing written for the newspapers about Lawton park swimming pool, for some time, I feel confident that the citizens of Fort Wayne will appreciate some information from the pen of one who knows. After working from twelve to fourteen hours per day, and seven days per week for three months, and not averaging more than $2.50 per day, we could hardly expect a man to become a millionaire in three months' time. But that is about the way the park board and some of the misinformed citizens have imagined the life guard at Lawton park swimming pool to have been hoarding up the "filthy lucre" during the past season. In answer to the question, "Who received the money taken in the check-room?" Answer: "The life guard." Furthermore, let me state that it is all the compensation he did get. Also out of this "gold mine proposition" had to be paid those who helped to keep the place clean and sanitary. The conditions in which the pool, grounds and dressing-rooms were kept were such as to write a communication from the park board to the citizens of Fort Wayne (Bless their liberal souls for that). Also, the pool was cleaned at various times, and each time this required three or four helpers. But could we expect the park board to send help for a couple of hours? Goodness! no! That would be entirely different from sending the men out to gather clover for the rabbits (which they kept about the building, and no one but themselves ever fed them) in the winter. However, if at any time, the board saw fit to appropriate the pool to some worthy cause or other, it was promptly taken from the manager (who was consulted about the change before hand, and was to be as meek as a lamb when his daily allowance was taken from him and never repaid). Do you recall the day when the Motor Transport had its camping grounds in Lawton park one day this summer? Do you also remember of seeing that the park board turned over the pool for use of the members of the transport? As usual, the facts were misrepresented so as to give all the glory to that "honorable board."

Who "really" turned over the pool and sacrificed his daily earnings? Let me state that the city park board did not spend one red cent toward giving the soldier boys cold plunges. I was told that the day of the reception committee that day to ask a fund of money for the day my business was taken from me. On going to the president of the board, I was told, "Well, we must ask a sacrifice some-thing for our country and our money, anyhow." I agree with him partially, but what did he donate? Why take all the glory without making the sacrifice?

Now, as I have stated, I want to make clear to the public the many points I did not dare discuss while under the direction of the park board. Another question asked me by several citizens: "Why was there not a life guard at Delta Lake (LaGrange)?" Also dressing-rooms? Because the park board refused to give their consent. The proposition was made whereby a check-room and dressing tents and life guard protection would be established, without one cent of expense to the park department, but this was refused consideration. The writer even made a plea in behalf of the little children of Fort Wayne who have protection at Delta Lake. When this proposition was made to the president of the park board, the answer was: "We have forbidden them to swim there, and if they persist in doing it now, let 'em drown." What a great love for children a man of that type must have. These contracts, the board knew, were not binding. The writer has also learned that after three months of ignorant bliss, "verbally" the writer agreed to take full charge of the swimming area and the life guard. There was a pool, with check-room as per contract, but the park superintendent's word that it easily took in $100 per week. On the other hand, "verbally" the park superintendent agreed to refund all money spent for improvements. The first part of the contract has been

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. What is the largest American battleship? R. W.

A. The New Mexico, flagship of the Pacific fleet, is the largest American battleship in commission. The appropriation for the construction of this ship was $7,500,000. The keel was laid in October, 1915, and the ship was completed in May of the present year. It is 600 feet long and 97 feet wide.

Q. Who was Don Quixote? H. F.

A. Don Quixote was a character created by Cervantes, the early Spanish writer. Don Quixote was a sort of burlesque knight who went forth and had comical adventures. From him come such words in the English language as "quixotic."

Q. What is the origin of the names of the states that border the Great Lakes? E. C.

A. Illinois is an Indian word with a French suffix "ois" meaning "Tribe of Men." Indiana means "Indian land." Michigan is an Indian word meaning "Fish weir," so called from a fancied resemblance of the lake to a fish trap. Minnesota is the Indian for "sky tinted water." Wisconsin means "rushing water."

Q. If a person is bitten by a rattlesnake, is he immune to the poison if bitten a second time? X. B.

A. He is not immune and will suffer as greatly from the second bite as though he had never been bitten before.

Q. To how many people does the motion picture industry give employment? G. I. T.

A. It is estimated that half a million people are engaged in the motion picture industry, fifty thousand being employed in production alone on the Pacific coast.

Q. What were the twenty-three wars that were said to be raging at the time the peace treaty was signed? R. H.

A. These wars, according to Bonar Law, of the British house of commons, were as follows: Allied Powers versus Central Powers; Jugoslavia versus Austria; Rumania versus Hungary; Hungary and Bolshevik; Poland versus Ukraine; Letts and Balts versus Bolsheviks; Estonians versus Bolsheviks; Denikins versus Bolsheviks; Finns versus Bolsheviks; Alans versus Bolsheviks; Persia versus Kurds; Germans versus Bolsheviks; Cossacks versus Bolsheviks; Afghans versus British; Nicaragua versus Costa Rica; War in Mexico; Irish versus British; Czechs versus Bohemians; Chinese Revolution; Czechs versus Hungary; Poland versus Bolsheviks; Siberians versus Bolsheviks; Egyptians versus British.

TRAVELETTE

Taft's Bath Tub

(By Niksah)

It is said that when President Taft moved in to the White House, he found the accommodations utterly inadequate in every respect. There was not a bath tub in the Executive Mansion large enough to hold a three hundred pound man and more than a quart of water at the same time. Accordingly, the ponderous president had a tub installed, according to those to know, which, for size and white porcelain beauty, probably has no rival in the United States.

Perhaps never since Cleopatra took her daily beauty dip in the milk of three hundred she-asses has there been such an unusual and special arrangement for the ablutions of any Chief Executive.

When Taft left the White House, this great and glorious bath tub fell into disuse. President Wilson, moderate and thoughtful in all things, probably felt that his proportions did not justify the use of the people's money in filling such an heroic tub with hot water once a day.

But Secretary of War Baker, who is a frequent and welcome visitor at the White House did not take that view of the case. It is said that when he first saw that bath tub, the well known Baker grin reached its uttermost limits. And when he also found ex-President Roosevelt's tennis court in the back yard, he made a resolution that he would visit Woodrow often.

It is said that in these hot dog days, the almost daily relaxation of the Secretary of War is to play a set of tennis on the White House court, and then take a bath in the Taft bath tub. Naturally, what was a bath tub for Taft is a veritable swimming pool for Baker. Thus the Secretary of War is saved the trouble and expense of a trip to the seaside foratorial exercise, and his services to the nation are uninterrupted.

Sounds Like Bakerism

(Manchester Guardian.)

A correspondent sends me an interesting extract from a letter received today, which throws a little light on the conundrum "How are we spending four millions a day on the war now it is over?" The extract runs:

"A girl cousin of mine has just been on leave and has now gone back to Italy in charge of thirty girl motor drivers. She gets £120 a year. I asked what could they be doing, and the answer was, 'Oh, taking wounded soldiers to different hospitals, running generals about, and plenty of lawn tennis!'"

"I know it," admitted Mr. Gabb. "They are so fond of animals that they even try to make monkeys out of their husbands."

Correct.

"Take this advice," said wise old Doc. "And always try to make it stick. Just be as steady as a clock. And you will not need any tick."

RUTH.

She stood breast high amid the corn,
Clasped by the golden light of morn,
Like the sweetheart of the sun,
Who many a glowing kiss had won.

On her cheek an autumn flush
Deeply ripened—such a blush
In the midst of brown was born,
Like red poppies grown with corn.

Round her eyes her tresses fell—
Which were blackest none could tell;
But long lashes veiled a light
That had also been all too bright.

And her hat, with shady brim,
Made her tressy forehead dim;
Thus she stood amid the stocks,
Praising God with sweetest looks.

Sure, I said, Heaven did not mean
Where I reap thou shouldst but glean;
Lay thy sheaf adown and come,
Share my harvest and my home.

ARE WOMEN NATURALLY WEAK?

Carefully conducted examinations and tests of a large number of college girls under the medical supervision of Dr. Clella Duell Mosher demonstrated that the popular fancy that women are constitutionally weak is unfounded. Women are just as strong as men of about the same stature and age.

How, then, are gossips to reconcile their ancient theories with the facts of modern life? Why should not a young woman continue her regular daily routine of exercise, play or work every day of the month irrespective of the fact that she is a woman?

I never touch on this subject but that some sincere, but sadly uninformed reader writes me a long letter of protest and advice, trying to make me understand that because woman belongs to the female sex she must accept every bit of Old Doctor Halpin's buncombe about her fragility, "delicacy of organization," and all that sort of tommyrot. If there is any delicacy of organization in the human animal, the male has it. He can't stand half the strains and troubles and ills a woman can; he whines and weakens and goes to pieces over troubles which his better half makes light of. He just thinks how dangerous the female of the species would be if she were a little less credulous!

A great many girls who might, with reasonable encouragement, develop into vigorous, healthy women, are repressed and made into sundry anemic myths, in their developing years, until they are converted into morbid, sickly, unhappy creatures. Despite the appealing sales for carded and any confirmed Salfrey can trump up to deter the young woman who refrains from enjoying a good swim, for instance, or going for a hike, or otherwise pursuing her recreation at any time of the month, makes a huge mistake.

One of the constructive observations made by Dr. Mosher, whom I have mentioned as an investigator of fact questions, was that Eugene girls who did NOT interrupt regular gymnasium or other exercises at the menstrual epochs suffered the least from functional disturbances. In fact, for carded and any confirmed Salfrey can trump up to deter the young woman who refrains from enjoying a good swim, for instance, or going for a hike, or otherwise pursuing her recreation at any time of the month, makes a huge mistake.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
The Name Divulged.
Is it Elsie? The compressed yeast that one should take to make them fat? If so, how do you take it? Can it injure you in any way? (G. H.)

ANSWER—One may take Fleischmann's compressed yeast with some chance of gaining weight. I do not take it—scarcely need it. One yeast cake, mixed to fluid consistency with cold water, milk, fruit juice or any beverage, may be taken after each of two or three meals daily for several weeks. I think it never does any harm. It seems to improve digestion and is somewhat laxative. It often causes gain of weight, and is a good remedy for acne pimples and for recurring crops of boils.

THE HYGIENIC HEATING SYSTEM.
What kind of a heating system would you recommend for a small frame house? We are building and we have several young children. Is hot air, hot water or steam heating best? (R. B.)

ANSWER—Hot air is best, in my opinion, provided the intake comes from outside. Furnaces which receive air from inside the house or inside the cellar are not hygienic, in my opinion. Hot air heating works best for carded and any confirmed Salfrey can trump up to deter the young woman who refrains from enjoying a good swim, for instance, or going for a hike, or otherwise pursuing her recreation at any time of the month, makes a huge mistake.

SCHOOLS AT CHURUBUSCO UNDERGO REORGANIZATION

(Special to the News)
CHURUBUSCO, Ind., Sept. 4.—The Churubusco schools have been reorganized under a new plan called the "Six and Six" system, usually called the "Junior High School." Only one other township school in Whitley county has adopted this plan. The seventh and eighth grades now become part of the high school, though of necessity, not seated in the assembly room. The high school consists of the seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth years. This plan bridges over the gap that has always existed between the common branches and the high school. The pupil will feel no strangeness when he comes to the high school work. The eighth grade pupils do not take an examination to become eligible to enter grade nine, but are advanced by subject by the principal and teachers. Their eligibility is based upon their passing grade in lists of move or less inane questions but upon their ability to carry the work of the next grade. Pupils are offered a greater variety of subjects and interest. Those who leave school before completing the course have the advantage of getting more vocational training. This change is a step in the direction of meeting the needs of the people of our community. All prospective high school students will find it to their advantage to enter the Churubusco schools and are urged to do so. County Superintendent of Schools, Mr. J. H. Anderson, is endeavoring to make the schools the peer of any in the county. Following is the revised court of study: Grade seven—English (literature, language, grammar, spelling), 5 periods a week; arithmetic, 4 periods; history and community civics, 5 periods a week; geography, 4 periods a week; physical training and hygiene (including sex hygiene), 2 periods a week; drawing and music, 4 periods a week; agricultural arts or household arts, 6 periods a week. Grade eight—English, 5 periods a week; arithmetic, 3 periods a week; history and community civics, 5 periods a week; general science (including physiology), 5 periods a week; physical training and hygiene (including sex hygiene), 2 periods a week; drawing and music, 4 periods a week; industrial arts or household arts, 6 periods a week.

CANVASS IS GOING LIVELY

Many Glad to Assist Day Nursery by Giving Money.

The team workers in the canvass for funds for the Day Nursery are meeting with a happy reception by the people who have become deeply interested in the service which the nursery is providing to mothers by taking care of their children while the mothers are at work earning the family living. Several subscriptions of $100, $50 and $25 are reported, as well as smaller contributions to this most worthy cause. The Day Nursery cares for children from the small sum of fifteen cents a day and this includes three meals—a light luncheon at 9 o'clock in the morning, a warm, substantial meal at noon and a luncheon at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The doors are opened at 8:30 in the morning and the day closes at 6:30 in the evening. Seek Better Quarters. In the midst of their canvass for money, the workers are hoping that some way may be found whereby the Day Nursery may secure more suitable quarters than those in which it is now housed, as there is no way to heat the rooms excepting through the use of stoves, and the period of inconvenience which makes it desirable to go elsewhere if the way opens. The club is grateful, however, for the present accommodations in the former Cressler home on West Berry street, where the workers on their turn, until something more suitable is found. Team Captains. The teams engaged in the canvass are captained by Mrs. F. H. McCulloch, Mrs. A. E. Fawcett, Mrs. Elizabeth Porter, Mrs. Chester Hall, Mrs. Jess Lipkey and representatives of the Opportunity Circle, King's Daughters.

One More Conquering Hero Comes

(By Frederic J. Haskin)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 4.—For the third time since the birth of the republic, the national capital will welcome home a conquering hero and victorious troops, when General John J. Pershing and the famous First division of regulars parade here about September 20.

This victory parade will be the greatest military spectacle the capital has witnessed since the reception accorded Admiral Dewey when he returned after sinking the Spanish armada in Manila harbor without the loss of a single man.

Officially solemnizing the close of the great world war, the celebration will be an epoch-making affair in the history of Washington. Elaborate plans are being made by the war department and a committee of Washingtonians for the gala day. It is intended that the people of the United States shall have the "first and only opportunity to witness the power of a division equipped and ready for battle." The boys of the First division will march with full equipment, including not only artillery and machine gun units, but even all the details of transportation and medical organization. In other words, it will be a first class modern fighting unit ready for action, and therefore very different from the old-fashioned military parade in full dress.

The exact date for the celebration has not yet been definitely fixed. A sort of preliminary parade will be held in New York city soon after the debarkation of the entire division, which will be billeted at Camp Merritt and Mills. It is expected that the entire personnel will have arrived in this country by September 10, and that the New York pageant will take place a few days later. Major General Shanks, commander of the port of debarkation at Hoboken, N. J., will set the date for the parade.

Following the festivities in New York, the division will begin its movement to Washington. All animals and vehicles will be sent by train during a period of several days. Then the march with the division personnel will move a day or so before the big parade.

General Pershing is scheduled to land in New York sometime around September 10, in which event he will be on hand to take part in the New York pageant. Whether he will ride at the head of the troops in Washington or occupy a place in the reviewing stand with President Wilson will be determined by the environment. His personal wishes will be consulted in this matter.

For the first time since the civil war a combatant division of troops will be encamped in the environs of this historic city. Potomac park, back of the white house, will be one of the concentrating points of the division. The men will camp there the night before the parade. It has been suggested that the division remain here a day or so after the celebration, during which time it could be inspected by sightseers.

Early on the morning of the parade, the 25,000 men of the division will march to southwestern Washington, where the units will fall in line in their respective order as the columns near the Peace monument, at the foot of Capital Hill. Although no definite route of march has been mapped out, it is believed that the parade will start at the Peace monument and pass along Pennsylvania avenue, which is one of the widest thoroughfares in the world, to the reviewing stand to be erected in front of the white house. From early morning until past evening on the day of the parade, Washington will present the appearance of a great mobilization point. All day long columns of marching soldiers, horse-drawn and motorized, will pass under this arch a few yards from the point where they will be reviewed by the president, his cabinet and members of the diplomatic corps.

Sermons will be preached along Pennsylvania avenue for out-of-town guests. Already Washington hotels are being literally deluged with telegrams by people who will come to see the striking spectacle. The town will be elegantly decorated and the president will declare a holiday for all the departments. As the heroes of Solissons, St. Mihiel and other important battles pass in review before the president, another scene of the days of '65 will be recalled to the old-timers who witnessed the review of Grant's army. On the 23rd day of May of that year, the Army of the Potomac, and on the next day Sherman's army, marched to the sea, paraded here, marking the termination of the civil war. Those who remember say that for hours on both days the "boys in blue" swept through the capital while hundreds of bands made the air ring with patriotic music.

More than 200,000 veteran troops who had fought in every battle of the civil war, commanded by the last northern general, were reviewed by their commander, Lieutenant General Grant, President Johnston and his cabinet, dignitaries of our own and other countries and by the throng of citizens who came from all parts of the north.

The night before the first of the celebration, the Army of the Potomac camped in the capital. It rained and the men were wet and dreary, but as the day dawned the clouds disappeared and the capital looked like a large military camp. There were brigades marching at route step, bivouac fires around which groups were eating their breakfast, orderly sergeants insisting in very rough language upon the use of sandpaper on muskets already bright, musicians rehearsing old tunes, and little drummer boys bracing drums half as high as themselves. General Meade rode at the head of the troops. The reviewing stand was in front of the white house, and it took about six hours for the parade to pass. As each brigade commander saluted, President Johnson would rise and lift his hat. General Grant sat during the whole time, except that he would occasionally make some commendatory remark as a gallant officer or brave regiment passed.

On the second day of the celebration the troops who marched "through Georgia" under Sherman, by granting amnesty to Joe Johnston's Confederate army, had incurred the displeasure of Secretary of War Stanton, who tried to prevent Sherman from leading his men in the parade. But the secretary was frustrated in his efforts, and Sherman rode at the head of his columns. After passing the reviewing stand, General Sherman wheeled to the left, dismounted, and joined the reviewing party. He shook hands cordially with President Johnson and General Grant, but when Secretary Stanton advanced with outstretched hand he refused to greet him and remarked that "I do not care to shake hands with clerks."

Returning to the valourous First division, it is interesting to note that the first units left the United States June 14, 1917, and the entire division made in France by July 2. The division has an enviable record. It was the first division in France; first in sector; first to fire a shot at the Germans; first to attack; first to conduct a raid; first to be raided; first to capture prisoners; first to inflict casualties; first to suffer casualties; first to be cited in general orders; first in number of division; corps and army commanders and general staff officers from the personnel.

The division suffered 23,974 casualties; 300 of its men won the Distinguished Service Cross; it captured 165 officers and 6,304 men, numerous machine guns, pieces of artillery of all calibers, and a great quantity of supplies. So, naturally, it has been selected to signalize the triumphant return of the American army from its victories in the battlefields of France and Flanders.

Is Backache Wearing You Out?

DOES any little exertion leave you tired and worn? Do you feel weak, nervous, "all unstrung?" Do you suffer daily backache, dizziness, and sick headache? You shouldn't! Too many folks drag along day in and day out, thus handicapped. And too often they overlook the kidneys which are likely at fault. Weak Kidneys cause many queer aches, pains and kidney irregularities. But if taken in time, kidney ills are usually easily corrected. Neglected, even a slight kidney weakness may turn into gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease. Don't wait! You owe it to yourself to get well and to stay well. Use Doan's Kidney Pills! Doan's have brought thousands of weak, tired, discouraged people back to health. Fort Wayne folks tell the story. Ask your neighbor!

These are Fort Wayne Cases:

HANNA STREET	COLERICK STREET	BARR STREET
Thomas E. Potterfield, 1103 Hanna St., says: "I used to be bothered considerably with my kidneys. They were weak and I couldn't control the passages of the secretions. Backache would almost drive me frantic at times and I couldn't get any ease from the pain. Often I would have to lie on the floor at night as I couldn't rest in bed. I was in such bad shape, I also got blinding dizzy spells and it wasn't until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, which I procured at Zimmerman's Pharmacy that I got relief. Doan's acted quickly, removing the pains from my back and regulating my kidneys. I can't recommend this medicine too highly."	Mrs. G. Schaper, 730 Colerick St., says: "I was suddenly taken with sharp pains in the small of my back. One day while washing I had to give up and rest. My kidneys didn't act as they should and I knew something would have to be done. One of the family had purchased a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for me and I began their use. It was certainly surprising to me how quickly I got relief and one box cured me. Since then I have been free from kidney trouble."	T. B. Woodward, roofing contractor, 814 Barr St., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of an annoying kidney weakness and drove away a bad spell of backache. Several times since then, when I have felt my kidneys needed strengthening, I have used Doan's and they have never failed to relieve my trouble. This medicine gives me more strength and better health generally and I gladly endorse it."

EAST LEWIS STREET	LAKE AVENUE
Mrs. C. M. Edsall, 1750 East Lewis street, gave the following statement on November 23, 1915: "I and others of the family have used Doan's Kidney Pills occasionally and have found them very satisfactory."	Low P. Sharp, 937 Lake Ave., Fort Wayne, says: "For disordered kidneys or backache, I think Doan's Kidney Pills can't be beat. I used Doan's some time ago when suffering from kidney trouble and they cured me. I gladly recommend this medicine to anyone afflicted with kidney trouble."

NO package of Doan's Kidney Pills is genuine unless it bears the maple-leaf trade-mark and the signature "James Doan."

LADIES OF THE A. O. H.
FINISH THEIR WORK HERE
All Delegates Pleased With the Things Accomplished at Annual Meeting.

LOCAL WOMEN HONORED
The state convention of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Ancient Order of Hibernians came to a close in this city Wednesday afternoon, with the revision of the bylaws of the organization and the election of officers.
At the election, the following officers were chosen:
President—Mrs. Margaret Taylor, Indianapolis (re-elected).
Vice-President—Mrs. Margaret Richwine, Anderson.
Secretary—Miss Mary Carney, Richmond (re-elected).
Treasurer—Miss Lillian O'Reilly, Terre Haute (re-elected).
State Chairman—Irish History—Mrs. J. W. Fowhey, Fort Wayne.
At the afternoon session of the auxiliary, the new state president of the A. O. H., I. F. McNeegan of Terre Haute, spoke to the delegates. His talk covered the work of the ladies and encouraged them in their endeavors.
Resolutions Adopted.
As the time for the convention to close drew near, the committee on resolutions presented the following, which were adopted:
"Whereas, The report of our state officers gave proof of their excellent work in behalf of our noble order, we extend our sincere thanks to the Rev. John R. Quinlan and visiting clergy. We are grateful and ask God's blessing of them."
To the Rev. Michael J. Byrne, our state chaplain and zealous worker of the order. May it please Almighty

God to leave him with us that he may continue his good work.
We extend our sincere thanks to brother James J. Cahill, Mrs. J. V. Tocher, V. Sherman Cuthrell, mayor of Fort Wayne for their hospitality to the visiting delegates.
That we were especially fortunate in having with us that good friend of the order, Mr. Rev. Francis H. Givish, LL. D. and our worthy state president, Mrs. Margaret Taylor, whose addresses were greatly enjoyed.
We desire to give special mention to Claude G. Bowers, editorial writer of the Journal-Gazette for his great interest in the Irish cause.
Thanks is extended the public press for its publication of the convention proceedings. We desire also to thank the Wolf & Dessauer management for their courtesies shown delegates.
We endorse the Catholic press in our homes for its teaching of Irish history in our schools, the spread of Catholicity and urge the promotion and growth of Hibernianism.
We endorse the Federation of Catholic societies and recommend that they affiliate wherever possible.
Resolved that this assembly voice the sentiments of the Irish movement in the state of Indiana shall keep in mind the cause of Ireland and the Irish people.
Miss Mary Hanna Lafayette chairman, Miss Catherine Wise Fort Wayne, Miss Bridget O'Neil, Muncie, Miss Mollie Finley Marion, Mrs. James H. Hayes, South Bend, Miss Sue Bohan, Lafayette.
All of the members of the auxiliary are greatly pleased with the result of the convention here, and the hospitality extended them. After refreshments late yesterday afternoon the delegates parted to go to their several homes in various parts of the state not only pleased with the result of the convention, but with pleasant thoughts of Fort Wayne.

STEUBEN COUNCIL MAKES NO HOSPITAL APPROPRIATION
(Special to the News)
ANGOLA, Ind., Sept. 4.—The question of the appropriation of $50,000 for the purpose of erecting a county hospital for Steuben county came up for action before the county council at its regular annual session today, but after discussion was tabled until the annual meeting next year unless a special session should be called for that purpose. The project for a county hospital came up before the voters at the general election last fall and passed by the narrow margin of fifteen votes and the vote cast was very light. An opinion has been given by a local attorney that it might be necessary to have a majority of all of the votes cast at the general election before the hospital project could legally carry, and while this opinion seems singular, it is substantiated by similar cases before higher courts. It has also been discovered that the proposed rate of taxation for maintenance did not occur on the ballots in accordance with law, and while the general sentiment seems to favor the hospital, it was thought advisable by the council to have these matters cleared up before the appropriation was made.

FUNERAL OF W. T. HUFFMAN.
(Special to the News)
WARREN, Ind., Sept. 4.—Funeral services for William T. Huffman, aged resident of Warren, were held from the Wesleyan Methodist church. Death was due to a complication of diseases from which Mr. Huffman had for some time been a sufferer. Immediate relatives who mourn his death are a widow, one daughter, Mrs. Marion Shultz of this city, and son, Harry Huffman, of Indianapolis.

LIVE STOCK MEN WANT HELP FROM GOVERNMENT
Federal Control of Grazing Land and Meat Industry Is Asked by Them.

PETITION SENT TO WILSON
(By United Press)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Declaring that the steadily rising cost of living is a serious menace to members of the American National Live Stock association market committee today addressed a letter to President Wilson outlining the program of relief.
The live stock men propose placing 200,000,000 acres of public grazing land under federal control to increase meat production.
2.—Prompt completion of the department of agriculture's survey covering the cost of meat production from farm to consumer.
3.—Enactment of legislation looking to federal control of the meat industry, similar to that proposed in the Kenyon and Kendrick bills now pending.
The letter is signed by livestock men including H. A. Jastro, L. Burke Dwight B. Heard and H. C. Wallace.
All data in the hands of the committee is offered to the president.
"We recognize that the steadily mounting cost of living is a most serious menace to our national welfare and largely the cause of industrial discontent," the letter stated.
"As meat products constitute a large percentage of this living cost, we offer for your consideration the following definite suggestions for improvement."
Prompt action by congress providing for a constructive plan for just and thorough going federal control of the packing industry which shall maintain the efficiency of this greatest of our national industries, but shall prevent in the future such misuse of the enormous rapidly growing economic and concentrated financial power of the group of five great packers as the investigation of the federal trade commission show have occurred in the past.
The letter calls for the "enactment of such reasonable, effective and definite legislation as shall positively prevent manipulation, hoarding, speculation in meat and other essential food products, shall provide for the regulation and control by license of the packers, under the agency of the department of agriculture, an impartial agency assuring fair treatment to producers, packer and consumer, alike; shall prevent packers control of all food products; shall provide for marketing places to be treated as public utilities free from packer control."
The letter further protested against alleged abuses cited by the federal trade commission and stated that the Kendrick and Kenyon bills incorporated the principles advocated.

DENVER MAY TRY PLUMB PLAN ON STREET LINES
City Council Approves Plan and Will Submit Proposition to Vote.

PETITIONS ARE PUT OUT
(By United Press)
DENVER, Colo., Sept. 4.—The Plumb plan made its first appearance in municipal ownership today when organized labor here announced that the principle of nationalization of the country's railroads will be attempted as a solution of Denver's street railway problem.
Petitions to initiate the Plumb plan in city ownership of Denver's street car lines will be circulated by unions. The service-at-cost plan and an elastic fare scheme has already been approved by the city council for submission to popular vote on October 22.

FORMER FORT WAYNE WOMAN TAKES RIDE IN AIRPLANE
(Special to the News)
PORTLAND, Ind., Sept. 4.—Lieutenant Rogers, an American ace, was the center of attraction at the Jay County fair today when he arrived from Indianapolis in an airplane circled the city and made a safe landing on the field marked out near the race course. Mrs. B. F. Sprunger, wife of B. F. Sprunger, formerly of Fort Wayne, Indiana, was proprietor of the Commercial Review, made the return flight to Indianapolis with the lieutenant, she being the first Jay county lady to fly to the Capital City. Mrs. Sprunger is a former Fort Wayne lady, being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Phipps, of 2110 Bowser Ave., Fort Wayne. The trip from Portland to Indianapolis was made in 51 minutes, a distance of 94 miles.

MEXICO PROMISES QUICK ACTION IN OIL CASES
(By United Press)
MEXICO CITY, Sept. 4.—Prompt action on the appeals of foreign petroleum companies was promised by Mexican officials today, when it developed that the supreme court had begun active consideration of the oil cases, without waiting for the action of congress. The appeals have been divided into eight groups.
The entire force of the Mexico City Electric company, which operates the street railways and light plants threatened to strike today because five of the American employees who had held responsible positions for many years, were discharged without reason. The company is owned by British interests.

GALLI-CURCI SAYS LUIGI WAS FOND OF HOTEL MAID
(By United Press)
CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—Evidence tending to show that Luigi Curci sought the company of other women was on file in superior court here today as an amendment to the divorce suit brought by Mme. Amelia Galli-Curci, the opera singer.
The evidence consisted of depositions taken at Fleischmann, N. Y., former home of the Curcis. The song bird accused her husband of having improper relations with a hotel maid at the New York town.

TWO WIVES WANT RELEASE FROM THEIR LIEGE LORDS
(Special to the News)
COLUMBIA CITY, Ind., Sept. 4.—Mary Jane Blair yesterday filed suit for divorce from her husband, Amos Blair. Both parties reside in Churubusco. The complaint sets forth that they were married December 11, 1908, and separated June 28, 1919, because of cruel and inhuman treatment on the part of the defendant. The plaintiff says that she was comelled to work outside to obtain money to purchase her own clothing. The defendant is accused of calling the names and chastising her. She married him only for his money. Three thousand dollars and an allowance of $20 a month for the support of two children, chaunced upon 10 and Mary aged 6 are sought. Through her attorneys Mabel F. Coyle has brought suit for divorce from her husband Austin Covle. She was denied a divorce at the last term of court because it was filed too soon after her marriage. The ground is cruel and inhuman treatment and intoxication. A divorce, $2,000 alimony and the custody of a child is asked. They were married in March, 1917, and separated in April 1918.

New Factory Nearly Completed
(Special to the News)
SYRACUSE, Ind., Sept. 4.—Rapid progress is being made in the erection of the new factory building of the Syracuse Table company and it will not be long until the building will be ready for business. A carload of machinery is on the way and Mr. C. C. Berger, head of the company, hopes to be able to install the machinery as soon as it arrives. The building will be a one story stucco structure with a floor space of 6,000 square feet. Three lots adjoining the factory site have been purchased and will be used for the storage of lumber.

FOR ITCHING ECZEMA, OLD SORES AND PILES
"I guarantee my ointment," says Peterson of Buffalo, "to cure eczema, to stop the itching at once and any reliable druggist will cheerfully refund your money if PETERSON'S OINTMENT doesn't do everything I say it will do."
William A. Carley, of Franklin, N. Y., is surely a wise man. He writes: "I used PETERSON'S OINTMENT on a little boy suffering terribly with eczema. It did the work. Then there is Alex. Loutell, a brave fire man of Buffalo, who is glad to write as follows: 'I had an old sore on my leg for many years. The best doctor failed. PETERSON'S OINTMENT entirely healed the sore quickly.' And from over in Canada comes a letter from A. Blockley, stating: 'The best thing I ever put on my itching piles is PETERSON'S OINTMENT.' A big box for 35 cents.

WILL PAY $1,000.00 REWARD

It has been rumored that certain persons pay money for testimonials to advertise medicine. This practice is unethical. Any person who is so dishonest as to do this is unworthy of the name of a doctor. The American Drug Co., Dayton, Ohio, will pay a reward of one thousand dollars for proof that they ever did, or gave any person authority to do so, any money whatsoever to the person whose name has appeared in newspapers and magazines for testimonials. The reward will be paid in full to the person who brings the proof. The reward is now on file with said company.

The most prominent people all over the land are glad to endorse Peppin's medicine for relief that the medicine gives them and because they like it and because they like to see it in their hands.

Many have found Peppin an ideal medicine, tissue builder and strengthener. It reaches into the stomach, cleanses and purges the bowels, cures the liver, the common malady, and gives the system a new lease of life. It is a powerful purgative, creating ailments that it cures whether you be a man, woman, or child.

Peruvian Bark used in the manufacture of quinine and of Peppin, is one of the greatest stomach and liver medicines ever discovered, especially when it is prepared by the Peppin Non-Alcoholic Process.

Peruvian Bark is not the only ingredient thus treated to compound Peppin. There is Gentian Root which aids and invigorates digestion; Pringle Tree Bark which exerts an influence upon the liver not found in any other plant. This is valuable where there is yellowness of the skin and eyes and a sense of uneasiness in the right side; Black Cohosh widely used because of its effect upon the muscular system, which is the reason it relieves rheumatism, lumbago and gout. Plantain Leaves which operate upon the nerves, soothing and quieting them and inducing healthy, refreshing sleep is one of the most common of herbs. It grows in almost everybody's back yard and makes its appearance in the early spring. Yet few know the value of its value as a medicine.

Many other ingredients are used in making Peppin and not one of them is of a poisonous nature.

Those who wish to know more of Peppin may do so at any first class drug store.

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP FARMER WELL PLEASED

E. Cook Explains Marvelous Effect of Peppin in His Wife's Case.

C. E. Cook, R. R. 3, Fort Wayne, is one of the best known farmers in Washington township, where he has resided for the past 45 years. When E. Cook recommends Peppin there is no doubt as to its efficiency.

"For years my wife suffered with stomach and liver trouble," says Mr. Cook. Her liver was sluggish and did not act regularly. Instead of properly digesting her food it laid heavily in her stomach.

"Then gas would form and cause most uncomfortable bloated feeling. She frequently had dizzy spells when she arose in the morning. These spells would last for several hours.

"Not long ago she told me that when she turned in bed she grew so dizzy that it seemed to her as if the buzz was turning around about her. She was unable to grow more vigorous and restless and she couldn't sleep soundly at night.

"Her relief through Peppin has been a pleasant and agreeable surprise. Her liver is now active and consequently she is not troubled with indigestion. Her appetite is improving from day to day and she does not have that heavy, bloated feeling she had before.

"While she is somewhat relieved the dizzy spells she is not entirely free from them but we have every hope that it will not be long before she is perfectly well again.

"Peppin is a good medicine and it certainly has helped my wife."

Peppin may be obtained at the dealer Drug Co., or from any other first class drug store anywhere.

MRS. JAS. McCaffrey JOYFULLY SURPRISED

Mrs. James McCaffrey, 11 Edsel avenue, Fort Wayne, makes no secret of her joy as she was joyfully surprised from King Peppin.

Mrs. McCaffrey expected Peppin to help her because it was so highly commended but she did not anticipate such rapid results.

Of Peppin Mrs. McCaffrey says, "I was nervous. My food didn't digest properly. Gas formed in my stomach. At other times I had sharp pains."

"I couldn't eat meat, cabbage, ravy or any greasy food without a severe attack of indigestion."

"I want to say truthfully and honestly that the first dose of Peppin that I took relieved the gas in my stomach. I was certainly surprised. I felt better and I was able to take Peppin again. It has helped me to grow better and I feel fine."

"I can now eat anything I desire. Peppin was just the medicine I needed to make me well and strong."

AYS CARPENTERS GET "HARD KNOCKS"

Even Plumbers Are Very Likely to Get "Stiff Joints."

According to best authority it is quite natural for carpenters to get hard knocks, for plumbers to have stiff joints, for masons to feel as if they were carrying a "brick" in their stomachs, for stove men to think their intestines are on "fire," for engineers to lose "steam" and for conductors to dislike their daily "fare."

When a mechanic's stomach goes on a "strike" and fails to do its duty is entire human "machine" is thrown out of gear and much disaster results.

In thousands of homes are mechanics and mechanics wives who extol the merits of Peppin, the great constructive tonic.

Peppin is a natural remedy for stomach trouble and the many ills that stomach causes, such as indigestion, sleeplessness, nervousness, headaches, dizzy spells and a hundred other afflictions.

Peppin is a compound especially designed to build a solid foundation for the human body. It is a foundation of health, strength, and vitality. It cleanses the stomach, kidney, liver and catarrhal ailments are due in almost every case to lack of strength—to a weakened state of membranes and tissues.

Common sense teaches that Peppin, composed of roots and barks, eaten without the use of alcohol, other strong stimulants, is a natural medicine.

It eliminates nervousness because it soothes the stomach, kidney, liver and because it strengthens the system. It is a tonic for the system. It is a tonic for the system. It is a tonic for the system.

Peppin may do so at the dealer Drug Co. or other first class drug store.

MRS. PYLE VERY SPRY AT THE AGE OF 74

Helps Daughter-in-law Clean House; Goes to Country and Works on Farm.

Mrs. Minerva Pyle, 3216 Beaver avenue, Fort Wayne, is gracefully growing old. Although Mrs. Pyle is 74 years of age she has the average energy of a woman of fifty.

This was not always the case. For only a short time ago Mrs. Pyle was in a badly run down condition of health, according to the story her daughter-in-law, Mrs. C. A. Pyle, 1122 Barthold street, this city, tells.

"My mother-in-law had liver trouble for years," she declared in a recent conversation at the Dreier Drug Co. She was badly constipated and complained of feeling tired and drowsy. Every time she sat down for a few minutes she would go to sleep. I have seen her sleep half an afternoon in her chair.

"We induced her to take Peppin and then the great change took place. Her liver became active and shortly after that she had a great deal more energy.

"After she took Peppin for several weeks she helped me with house cleaning, beating rugs, scrubbing, etc. She is now able to do more work than I can myself.

"She went to visit her daughter in the country not long ago and while there she helped her with the farm work, doing such jobs as milking the cows and feeding the chickens.

"She says Peppin is a great medicine."

BACK PAINED HIM SEVERELY AT NIGHT

Couldn't Sleep Soundly on Account of Kidney Troubles.

A. T. Phillips, 354 Baker street, Fort Wayne, works at the Horton Manufacturing Co. of this city, where he assists in making washing machines.

No man enjoys his work when he don't feel right and Mr. Phillips is no exception to the general rule. Since taking Peppin his work does not tire him as it formerly did and now he has a different view of things.

His wife relates the following story: "For several years my husband had kidney trouble," she says.

"He complained of backaches and seemed to suffer more at night than he did in the day time. He could only sleep a few hours at a time and even then he was restless.

"He rolled and tumbled in bed. He felt tired and worn out when he arose in the morning.

"We read about Peppin in the Fort Wayne newspaper and got it. It stopped his backaches. He no longer complains of that 'tired feeling in the morning.' His sleep is sound and he is no longer restless at night like he was before.

"My husband looks more healthy than he did before he took Peppin. His face is filling out and he is gaining in weight."

ENTERS LIKE THIEF IN DEAD OF NIGHT

Devoid of All Pity Catarrh Fastens Its Clutch on Victims Unawares.

Catarrh is one of the most prevalent of all diseases. Why? Because it steals upon its victims like a thief in the night. To be forewarned is to be forearmed and ready to combat the condition, but catarrh gives no warning.

Before you know it you have catarrh. Catarrh usually is very hard to overcome.

Catarrh affects almost every organ in the body and will finally produce a condition known as systemic catarrh. The circulation becomes poor and the organs suffer. The patient has a general despondent feeling. Sometimes catarrh resembles chronic constipation and again it resembles nervous prostration. The kidneys become affected, and the bladder and the stomach. Then comes indigestion, pains and cramps after eating, kidney ailments which so frequently cause backaches, especially upon arising in the morning, and many other ills too numerous to mention.

At the first sign of catarrh you should do something to check its course. The most reasonable, rational treatment is with a tonic; one that will aid digestion, enrich the blood and build up the muscles.

Thousands of people have proclaimed Peppin an excellent remedy for catarrh. First aid should be through the stomach, causing good digestion, and from this "hot bed" of human ills good influence is sent to every part of the system.

Peppin is composed entirely of vegetable ingredients, selected for their purity and potency. It has a delicate, appetizing sassafras flavor.

GAIN OF 15 POUNDS RECORDED BY SIDLE

Every Ounce of Good Muscle Adds to Fort Wayne Man's Strength.

L. C. Sidle, 421 Baker street, Fort Wayne, is employed by the McAfee Co. He is very enthusiastic about Peppin.

"Listen: 'For two years I suffered with rheumatism until every muscle and joint in my body ached,' declares Mr. Sidle.

"My pains were most severe in my back and arms. I lost fifteen days from my work before I began using Peppin. I also had stomach trouble; my food didn't seem to do me any good. I couldn't eat anything of any description. Even water sometimes made me sick.

"But since taking Peppin—Oh, my. I feel great. All of the pains in my back and shoulders are gone. I sleep at night like a tired school boy. I am back at work. I can eat whatever I desire and no come back—no indigestion. I never have that 'heavy feeling' in my stomach.

"When I started to take Peppin I weighed 120 pounds. I now weigh 135 pounds so I have gained 15 pounds of good healthy muscle."

HIS KNEES FEEL LIKE THEY WERE JUST OILED

Rheumatic Pains and Stiffness Quickly Yield to Peppin Treatment.

When C. Aiken, 621 Fourth street, Fort Wayne, told his wife that his knees felt as if they had just been oiled, he gave an example that will be appreciated by thousands who have suffered with rheumatism and other ailments that cause stiff joints.

Mr. Aiken is 73 years of age. He works at the rolling mill.

"There was no need of my husband telling me that his knees felt as if they had been freshly oiled," says Mrs. Aiken, "for I could tell that he felt good by the way he acted."

"For about twelve years my husband had been afflicted with rheumatism. Sometimes his knees were so stiff that he could hardly walk. His stomach was also badly upset from nervous indigestion.

"He has taken enough medicine to start a small drug store but nothing seemed to avail until he took Peppin. Peppin went right to the sore spot. It relieved his stomach in a very short time.

"While I am not prepared to say that he is entirely rid of rheumatism he is so much better that he actually feels like a different man."

"Mr. Aiken is going to keep right on taking Peppin. We feel sure that it will eventually relieve him entirely of rheumatism. His experience has been such that it gives me pleasure to recommend Peppin to other people."

Peppin may be obtained at the Dreier Drug Co. and other first class drug stores.

SAYS HER FACE FELT LIKE IT WAS ON FIRE

Annoying Hot Flashes Caused Mrs. J. Frederick Much Discomfort.

"I was severely troubled with hot flashes—sometimes my face felt like it was on fire," says Mrs. J. Frederick, 1223 Barthold street, Fort Wayne.

"I attribute this to the fact that my entire system was badly run down. Last summer I was afflicted with kidney ills and have never been just right from the matter of health since that time. My stomach bothered me. Sometimes I was so weak that I staggered when I walked.

"My face swelled and my joints were as stiff as if I had rheumatism. After eating I felt as if I had a lump in my throat. The sensation was as if I was going to belch but I didn't. Hot, sour liquids would come up into my mouth and almost nauseate me.

"Just before I began taking Peppin red spots appeared on my hands and arms. The first thing I noticed after taking Peppin was that my stomach felt easier. Then I ceased to have hot flashes. The red spots left my hands and finally all of the swelling in my joints disappeared.

"I am now taking Peppin with a very rapid rate. I sleep more soundly, too."

"I think Peppin is the best medicine I ever took. I gave some to my husband and my daughter and it helped both of them."

Weak, nervous people who wish to know of Peppin may do so at the Dreier Drug Co. or from any other first class drug store.

PURE CASCARA IS A VERY FINE LAXATIVE

But It Is Greatly Improved by the Addition of Senna Leaves.

Pure cascara is one of the best laxatives known, but it is not always sufficient to overcome a severe case of constipation. Senna leaves are another popular home remedy for constipation, but like cascara, they will not answer the problem where the ailment is of long standing.

To secure best results, senna and cascara should be used in combination. Two small horses traveling in the same direction will always outpull one horse that weighs as much as both of them.

To mix cascara and senna in exactly the proper proportion to have a uniform dose requires a chemist's skill, but you can purchase them already mixed under the name of "Peppin Laxative Tablets," at leading drug stores.

Peppin Laxative Tablets are especially suitable for nursing mothers, for people with delicate stomachs and for children where great care must be exercised in selecting a laxative. They are pleasant to take. Eat them like candy.

One tablet should be taken night and morning, gradually discontinuing their use as the action of the bowels becomes normal.

When constipated, it is a good idea to take Peppin Laxative Tablets at the same time you take Peppin Tonic. The Laxative Tablets keep the bowels open, while the tonic acts as a strength builder.

ELIMINATE THE RUSH; CO-OPERATION IS URGED

Avoid the Last Day Crowding by Buying All School Supplies Early.

To avoid the usual last minute rush for books and general school supplies, co-operation between the parents of school children and the school authorities is being urged this year. Parents, or buyers of school supplies, are asked to purchase the school needs early, and before the opening of the schools for the year's work. If the public will realize the great advantage to be derived they will be helping themselves and the dealers. A complete list of the needs of high school students is printed below:

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN INSTRUCTS DISABLED VETS

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 30.—With 70 disabled soldiers now enrolled in the summer school of the University of Wisconsin, preparations are being made to instruct a much larger number of the same class of students this fall. The disabled veterans are studying under the auspices of the federal board of vocational training, about half expecting to stay for a year's work if their progress and physical fitness warrant, while the others will receive two to four years' training.

Thirty-nine of the soldiers are residents of this state, 19 of Illinois, 9 of Mississippi, and one each of Indiana, Texas and Missouri. Others give various addresses, one being a Russian and another a Frenchman.

The Russian is Lou Lazar Resenkoff, recently discharged from the 143rd field artillery, Rainbow Division. When the war interrupted his studies at the University of Petrograd, he was drafted into the Russian army and sent to the front. Later, he was tried for treason, and sent to Siberia, whence his mother, with a sad man's pass and bribes, enabled him to escape to New York. He became a dancer in vaudeville, and while playing in Danville, Ill., heard that his two brothers had been killed in the Russian revolution and enlisted to avenge their deaths. He saw ten months' service in France during which time he was gassed and wounded. Now he is completing the course in electrical engineering he started at the University of Petrograd.

M. Rene Guet of Rennes, France, fought through the first two years was sent to the St. Cyr military academy at Paris for a year's training, and was seriously wounded shortly after his return to active service as a second lieutenant. As a reward for his sacrifices the French government granted him a travelling fellowship for study in America. He spent the last year of his studies at the University of Illinois and is now pursuing studies in English and History here.

Nearly half of the veterans now studying at the university have finished the eighth grade. They have completed high school and 11 have had some college work. Farming industries interest the majority of them, with 27 studying various phases of this subject, while 12 are studying mechanical industries, 8 are in commercial work, 2 in medicine, 2 in chemistry, 2 in journalism, one in law and one in pharmacy. Special instruction in chemistry and mathematics has been arranged for those who need it and special tutoring in English is being considered.

VOCATIONAL CLASSES OPEN

Applications for Fall Term Should Be Made at Once.

While plans for the evening and part-time vocational classes are still in the making, preparations are being made for the opening of the regular day vocational school next Monday, Sept. 8. This school is housed in the old high school building, on East Wayne street, with plenty of room to accommodate all those who may wish to enter.

Qualifications for home making and industrial classes are at least fourteen years of age and completion of at least the fifth grade of the elementary school. Commercial courses require completion of eighth grade.

Enrollment in vocational school is now going on, with many inquiries concerning courses, requirements, etc. Prospective students may enroll in person or by telephone, 4362, as either Mr. Hines, the principal, or Mr. Ritter, general director of vocational education, can be found at the vocational school office daily.

The courses in the day school include electrical work, machine shop practice, auto construction and repair, mechanical drafting, shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, accounting, dressmaking, millinery, cooking and applied science, mathematics, English and civics.

This school meets a specific need in the city as it gives opportunity to many for education along specific lines, which will fit them for a place in the activities of the community.

Don't start to school without a blotter. Get one with a loaf of Creamo Bread Friday.

NEWVILLE, Ind., Sept. 4.—Word has just been received here by relatives of the death of Clarence Wyatt at Angola. Mr. Wyatt was a former resident of this place. His death was caused by cancer of the stomach. Funeral services will be held at Newville tomorrow.

How Old Are You By Your Hair?

You may be thirty in years, but if you are bald-headed, gray, or your hair is dry, brittle, scraggly and ugly looking, people will surely take you to be many years older.

When your hair becomes faded, dry, streaked and scraggly, when it falls out badly and new hair cannot grow, the roots should be immediately vitalized and properly nourished. To do this quickly, safely and at little expense, there is nothing so effective as Parlan hair cream (the form) which you can get at all good drug and toilet counters.

It's guaranteed to abolish dandruff—stop scalp itch and falling hair and promote a new growth or money refunded. It's in great demand by discriminating women because it makes the hair soft, lustrous, easy to arrange attractively and appear heavier than it really is.

A message with Parlan sage is a real delight—easy to use, not sticky or greasy, and delicately perfumed—an antiseptic liquid free from dangerous ingredients and guaranteed not to irritate the scalp. If you want good looking hair and plenty of it, by all means use Parlan sage. A little attention now insures beautiful hair for years to come.—Adv.

Aid Society Meets.

(Special to the News.) NEWVILLE, Ind., Sept. 4.—The Christian Aid society was entertained at the home of Wallace Abel, August 28. About thirty people were present and enjoyed a pot luck dinner. The afternoon was devoted to business, the president, Mrs. Frank Schram, conducting the devotional exercises. Mrs. Estelle McNabb reported and enjoyed a pot luck dinner. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Mary Whitehurst, Sept. 11.

REOPEN EXTENSION COURSE

Fall Semester to Commence on Sept. 22.

The Fort Wayne Center of Indiana University Extension work is to begin its regular late afternoon and evening classes on Monday, September 22.

Fort Wayne and Indianapolis are the only cities in the state where extension centers are maintained by the state university. The people of Fort Wayne are to be congratulated in having the privilege of securing regular university work at their door. By having classes in the late afternoon and evening, the extension center is making it possible for many people to perform their regular daily duties and yet add to their efficiency and the pleasure of living by spending an evening or two listening to lectures by college professors and others.

Last year nearly four hundred people of varying ages and varying degrees of education were enrolled in regular extension work. Some students had only completed the work of the grades of the common schools. Nearly all of these have graduated their intention of continuing their work in extension classes this year.

The extension department has planned an elaborate course for this fall; instruction being given in sociology, social pathology, Latin-American trade, psychology, business English, public speaking, Romantic poets, oral interpretation, dramatic art, Victorian prophets, the modern novel, fine arts, French, journalism, mathematics, physical education, current problems, political science and Spanish.

Mr. F. R. Neff, officer in charge, will be glad to discuss the work of the extension department at any time. The executive office is on the third floor of the court house.

DUNFEE NEWS.

OUT THIS OUT

Your druggist has P. D. Q. (Pesky Devil's Quinine) and will be glad to furnish it for 35 cents. One 35-cent package makes a quart of mixture and is equal to a barrel of old-fashioned bug-killer. Some druggists may try to sell you something else. Don't accept a substitute. If your druggist hasn't P. D. Q., send us his name and 35-cent package and we will send a package postage prepaid to your address.

WILL NOT DAMAGE GOODS

P. D. Q. will not injure delicate fabrics, clothing, carpets, furniture, bedding, wall paper, woodwork. In fact, it is often used as deodorizer and disinfectant.

LADIES OF THE ROTARY CLUB

They'll Have a Good Time at Wawasee Outing Tomorrow.

That the ladies of the Fort Wayne Rotarians who will go to Lake Wawasee tomorrow for an outing in company with the members of clubs from six other cities in northeastern Indiana, are to be given a good time is suggested by the word from the lake that all of the launches on the lake have been engaged for the day, in order that they may be placed at the complete disposal of the ladies. Golf contests, an interesting program of impromptu sports, and some thrilling "horseback" contests are scheduled for the afternoon. If it "warms up" bathing will be in order. Dinner will be served at the Inn from 5:30 to 7:30 and this will be followed by a picnic with hot coffee and lemonade.

MANY ARE GOING TO SCHOOL

Industrial Paves Way to Success for Hundreds.

Every week, more and more young people come to the office of the Industrial Loan and Investment company at 114 West Wayne street to inquire about the plan of getting money to enable them to secure an education. The arrangement by which they can borrow money to pay their tuition and then meet the obligation by paying only $1 a week on $50 or $250, has helped hundreds of young folks to prepare for a successful business career.

Possibly the plan of these young people will serve as a good suggestion to the members of clubs who wish complete details of the plan and show them how the Industrial can help.

At the Industrial office, Charles J. Steals, secretary-manager, will be glad to meet any young people who wish complete details of the plan and show them how the Industrial can help.

PESKY BED BUGS

Doctors declare that bedbugs and other vermin are the most to be feared means of spreading such diseases as consumption, spinal meningitis and other infectious troubles. There is no disgrace in getting bedbugs in your home, because that can be avoided. But it is a disgrace to permit them to remain and thrive when it is so easy to get rid of them with the new chemical compound, P. D. Q., which actually puts an end to these pesky devils.

A MILLION BED BUGS

A 35-cent package of this golden chemical will make a quart of mixture that is so deadly to bedbugs that it would kill a million of them if you could get that many together. If they were as big as your hand it would swat them just as well. And not only the live ones, but the future generations as well, because once it hits the eggs they are gone.

FOR ANTS AND COCKROACHES

The ants and the cockroaches stand just as good a chance of surviving a treatment of P. D. Q. as a snowball in a justly famed heat resort. It swats them and their eggs with a wallop that puts their whole generation out of business. Use it on furs in storage to kill and keep them out.

A BED BUG SPOUT

Every package of P. D. Q. contains a patent spout that fits any ordinary bottle. It will enable you to reach the hard-to-get-at places and get a lot of juice. When buying look for the Devil Heads on every package of P. D. Q. then you'll be sure to get the genuine. Sold by Meyer Bros. Drug Co., and other leading druggists.

Night School

On Tuesday and Friday evenings night school will be held at the Anthony Wayne Institute from 7 o'clock until 9 P. M. Students will be permitted to come to the school as early as 6 o'clock, in order that they may have an extra hour to devote to study or practice on the typewriter. The splendid courses given at the Anthony Wayne will accomplish results that will both please and surprise you. The same degree of thoroughness insisted upon in the day school sessions is carried out in the evening sessions. It will pay you to investigate—tuition rates are low—advantages are superior. ARMED FOR POINTING GUN

Doris Deutchman Drew the Weapon on Step-Father.

On a charge of pointing a deadly weapon, preferred by his step-father, Frank Strain, Doris Deutchman, 15, was taken to the city court this morning, fined $10 and costs. In the course of the hearing, considerable domestic trouble was aired. Strain says that doesn't want the step-son around a place because he does not work regularly and fails to pay his board. Deutchman says that Strain objects his calling to see his mother when Strain found the youth at his home on South Calhoun street, on any day, the pair became involved in an altercation, the latter finally shoving to a bureau drawer, where secured a gun which he drew on Strain. Strain is said to have jumped between her husband and her son, and to have taken the weapon from the latter. Hostilities were resumed on the street after which the police were called. When the officers arrived Deutchman fled and Station-

Daily Doings in Harrison Hill

Oscar G. Bender, production engineer of the General Electric Co., has purchased one of the finest lots in a southwestern part of Harrison Hill. It is on Cornell Circle, directly joining the lot on which the model six-room house is being erected by Hilgenman & Schaeff and is attracting such wide attention. The Bender property has a frontage of 30 feet on Cornell Circle.

If North, of the Hilgenman & Schaeff sales organization, was in charge of the sale of the property.

Dovell, the landscape architect, is designing a beautiful sunken garden at a feature of the residence property of R. B. Shields, on Harrison boulevard. The Shields family recently took possession of the modern brick home erected on the property when completed, the landscape effect will be one of the prettiest in the city.

Ray Wilkinson of South Fairfield avenue, plans to erect a brick home in his choice lot on Harrison boulevard. Mr. Wilkinson is a traveling shoe salesman.

Noah Niswander has commenced construction of a home on his Harrison Hill property. It will be of modern type six-room house.

Attention of lot buyers seems to be attracted on Harrison Hill, and it is evident that the remaining lots will sell without delay. There is time, however, to make selections, and all who are thinking of buying before the pieces of real estate advance could act promptly.

INSTEAD OF DIGESTING

A food soured, causing gas and a sick, sick feeling. Doctoring for three years in help aid. I was told I had a combination of diseases, but could not get relief. I was told about Dr. Bunk's Vegetable Compound, took some and in two months was a well person. Reader—Adt.

City Court Notes.

The case of Fred Bates, charged with petit larceny, was continued until Monday morning. Bates, who was at liberty under a suspended sentence for having robbed the John Link grocery on Maumee avenue, was arrested last evening by Detective Sergeants John Godfrey and Jacob Havel. He is alleged to have stolen a sum of money, and also to have forged a check.

The case of James Davidson and Harris Wetherill, who were caught here with a stolen government automobile and other army equipment, was continued indefinitely in the city court this morning. The two soldiers were on Saturday morning taken to Indianapolis by federal authorities.

GUARD UNIT UNDER WAY

Final Work of Enlisting Men at Armory Friday Night.

The final work of recruiting to full strength the local National Guard unit will be held at the state armory in this city tomorrow night, under the direction of Captain John H. Johnson.

This is a fine chance for regular army men to sign up with distinct advantages of a one year enlistment and with all the chances for commissioned and non-commissioned officers.

After the regular infantry company is completely organized, attempts will be made to organize a company of field artillery. All those interested in this movement should report at the armory tomorrow night.

TOWNSHIP TEACHERS MEET

Second Day of Institute Was Well Attended.

Teachers from Marion, Madison, Monroe, Jackson and Jefferson townships gathered in the assembly-room of the court house today, for the first Teachers' institute of the year.

The first session opened at 9:15 o'clock, with a good attendance. The meeting was opened by Superintendent D. O. McComb.

During the day the following program was given: Opening exercises, Carrie Robinson; elementary course of study, by Clarence Bobbitt; "What is Education?" by Ervin Doty; "What is Knowledge?" by Dwight Youse; "The Valley of Democracy," by Laura Purke, and Chester Gerardot.

Tomorrow the following township teachers will hold their institute: Cedar Creek, Springfield, Scipio, Milan and Maumee. The first session will open at 9 o'clock, as usual.

NO RELIEF IN SIGHT FOR SUGAR SHORTAGE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Sugar shortages now experienced in many parts of the country cannot be relieved for some time to come, George A. Zabriskie, president of the United States equalization board, said in a letter received today by Senator Hitchcock, democrat, Nebraska.

"The demand is enormous and largely in excess of refiners' ability to supply it at this time," said Mr. Zabriskie.

SENATOR UNDERWOOD FOR FEDERAL WAGE COMMISSION

Men Will Not Strike Against Just Decisions of Government Is Belief.

END OF BRUTE FORCE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Establishment of a government commission or a board with powers to fix both railroad wage scales and transportation rates was advocated in the senate today by Senator Underwood, of Alabama, a democratic member of the interstate commerce committee.

Without disclosing whether he favored the interstate commerce commission as the proposed tribunal or discussing the Cummins plan to prohibit strikes and lockouts of employees, Senator Underwood said the interests of the public, of capital and of railroad employees require such a plan. It is clearly within the right of congress, he declared, to create an agency to determine wages as well as rates.

"Men will not strike," said the Alabama senator, "against the just decisions of the government. After a fair determination of the controversy by an impartial tribunal, public sentiment will force the contending parties to accept the verdict rendered as final. It must be done in the interest of the men involved, the industry of the people and the peace of the nation."

The tribunal he proposed, Senator Underwood continued, "must have the authority and power to protect the rights of the whole people against the recurrence of strikes and lockouts." Disturbance of transportation, he said, affects the whole public and, therefore, railroad employees owe obligations in their action different from those in private industry.

"There is but one way out, in my judgment," he continued, "and that is to appoint a tribunal with the power to adjust these matters, which has the time to consider and the opportunity to know the facts."

Senator Underwood said the time has come when contests of "brute force" between capital and labor must cease, and that the right of labor should be recognized and protected by law, as are those of property. Present conditions, he said, are primitive, and collective bargaining, he asserted, cannot be pursued against general public interests.

ACTORS' STRIKE NOT NEAR A SETTLEMENT

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The actors' strike which gave indications yesterday of being settled last night on a compromise basis apparently was farther than ever from settlement today.

Though no statement had been made by the producing managers' association, it was reported that the larger producers had refused to recognize the Actors' Equity association even if the latter will allow open shop in all theaters.

A majority of managers, representing a minority of interests however, is said to favor the compromise. They are being held in line by the big managers, according to reports.

INDIANA CITIES DRAW BIG SUMS ON LIFE INSURANCE

(Special to the News)

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 4.—Indiana ranked high in the list of life insurance claims paid during 1932, according to figures made public here. Claims were paid as follows in some of the larger cities in the state: Indianapolis, $1,555,000; Evansville, $598,000; South Bend, $527,000; Fort Wayne, $480,000; Richmond, $191,750; Elkhart, $115,250; Hammond, $87,750; Huntington, $61,750; LaPorte, $61,750; Newcastle, $55,750.

Don't Spoil Your Hair By Washing It

When you wash your hair, be careful what you use. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

SENATE CONFIRMS RANK OF GENERAL TO PERSHING

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Amid applause from the senators and spectators, the senate today in open executive session unanimously confirmed the nomination of John J. Pershing to the permanent rank of general of the regular army, as a reward for his services as commander of the American Expeditionary forces. As a mark of special honor, a rising vote was taken.

The special act leaving the rank for General Pershing, makes his title "General of the armies of the United States" and provides that no officer shall take precedence in rank over him. The rank has not been held since the death of General Sheridan.

THIS U. S. MARINE IS 80 YEARS OLD

Henry B. Hallowall.

Henry B. Hallowall, eighty years old, claims to be the oldest marine in the U. S. He called at the White House the other day to pay his respects to the president. In 1860 Hallowall was an orderly at the White House, and he is the last of the marines stationed at the executive mansion during the Buchanan administration. It is his first visit to the White House in fifty-seven years, for at the close of the Civil war he migrated west and now makes his home at McPherson, Kansas.

NAZIMOVA AT HER VERY BEST

In "The Red Lantern" at the Jefferson Theater.

Nazimova, the distinguished Russian actress is the attraction at the Jefferson theatre, in the powerful drama, "The Red Lantern." She was seen in a dual role, playing both Mahlee, the Eurasian, and Blanche, the English girl. The roles are of such vastly different character that it is amazing to think that one woman could portray them both.

As Mahlee, Nazimova is supreme—depicting the passionate and inscrutable daughter of two races—the child of an English father and a Chinese mother—whose instincts tradition and emotions surge in constant conflict—making of her a mental outcast, belonging to neither race.

The story reaches dramatic heights when the unhappy girl finds that her yellow blood is an insurmountable barrier between a young missionary whom she loves and herself, and that although he is powerfully attracted to her, the difference of race can never be overcome. Wild jealousy grips her when she finds that he really loves her half-sister, Blanche, (also played by Nazimova), and in a frenzy she agrees to the proposal of Sam Lang, who loves her, but whom she hates to go with him and lead the yellow races in an uprising against the whites. She assumes the fantastic title of the Goddess of the Red Lantern, which thrills the people to a fanatic religious frenzy, and they determine to exterminate the "foreign devils."

Relentless remorse seizes her for what she has done, and at a great risk to her own life she tries to save those of her father's race whom she loves. A tragic end occurs when the girl realizes that she belongs to neither people and can never hope for happiness with either.

In beautiful contrast to this unequal struggle is the romance of Blanche and the young missionary.

Mr. and Mrs. William Davidson, who motored here from Chicago, have returned to their home on West Wayne street, after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. Otto Hershberger, of West Washington boulevard.

Miss Rose Sackman, of Toledo, O., and Sergeant James McKivergin, of Fort Sheridan, Ill., have returned to their respective homes after spending the week-end as the guests of Miss Frieda Bauerle, of Lincoln avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Curtis, of Reed City, Mich., who for the past several weeks have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Fry, of South Webster street, have motored to Grand Rapids for a brief visit en route to their home in Reed City. While in the city Mr. and Mrs. Curtis attended the McIntosh reunion, which was held in Swinney park.

A lovely pre-nuptial shower was given Tuesday morning at the home of Miss Adella Moller on Division street, for which Miss Moller and her cousin, Miss Eleanor Moller were hostesses. The affair complimented Miss Emma Meyer, whose marriage to Mr. William T. Bradmiller will take place September 22. Miss Meyer received many beautiful miscellaneous gifts for her new home. The guests were Mrs. Herman Reber, Mrs. George Hoerner and the Misses Ella Marhekey, Leona Hook, Emma, Lena, Lena, Hanke, Minnie Busse, Alvina and Rose Adams.

Reiniking-Hartman. About 125 guests witnessed the wedding nuptials of Miss Edith Hartman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hartman, of Crescent avenue, and Mr. Hugo Reiniking, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Reiniking, of Johns street, which was solemnized at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon, at the Hartman residence. The guests assembled at 3:30 o'clock for the brief musical rendered before the ceremony. Promptly at 3:45 o'clock the wedding march, from Lohengrin, began, and little Misses Hilda Lahrman and Lillian Frauenthal, dressed in sumptuous frocks of white organdie, and large hair-bows and tashes of maline, appeared, stretching wide white satin ribbons as they walked for the bride party. Next came Miss Meyer, as bridesmaid, accompanied by Mr. Paul Hartman, who attended as groomsmen. Miss Meyer wore a lovely frock of apricot georgette, and carried a large, ornate bouquet of Ophelia roses and snapdragons. Following walked little Lorna Frauenfelder, in a dainty blue dress and carrying a basket of snapdragons and larkspur. Miss Clara Hartman attended her cousin as maid of honor, and looked lovely in a dress of flesh-colored georgette, with trimming of orchid ribbons. She carried an armful of Sherry roses and snapdragons. Miss Agatha Zimmerman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., preceded the bride and carried the rings in an exquisite colonial bouquet. She was dressed in slimy white net, with a broad, colored sash, and wore hair-bows of maline. The bride, an unusually beautiful young woman, walked with her father, who gave her in marriage. Her gown was a lovely cream-colored white georgette crepe, draped over crepe de meteor, and marked by the extreme simplicity of pattern. She wore a stunning veil of tulle, made in Russian effect, with silver ribbon band placed about the forehead and underneath the chin. A frill of tulle stood high at the back of the head. Her hair was dressed in the French and swanstonia. The bride party proceeded to the living-room before an improvised altar of palms and ferns, where the bridegroom and best man, Mr. Ervin Rose, awaited them. The double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Jacob Miller, of the St. Paul's Lutheran church. At 5 o'clock an elaborate wedding dinner was served on the spa, and the bride and groom were seated under a canopy had been stretched overhead. During the dinner hour excellent music was furnished by a string orchestra. Mr. and Mrs. Reiniking are leaving later for the reception at nearby lakes, where they will spend several weeks. For going away the bride will wear a smart suit of navy blue serge, with a hat of brown tulle and blue shoes and gloves in contrasting shades. Upon their return to this city the young couple will go to housekeeping in their own home, at 815 Rivermet avenue. The groom is associated with the Port Wayne Oil & Supply company. Guests from out of the city were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Reiniking, of Oskan, Ind.; Mr. August Reiniking and daughter, and Mrs. Martha Koldewey, of Decatur; Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Zimmerman and daughters, Agatha and Victoria, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; and Mr. John Meisinger, of Akron, O.

Dpeter-Friedline. Local friends of Miss DeEtta Friedline, daughter of 31 and Mrs. John W. Friedline, 1212 Orchard street, and Mr. Edward Dueter, son of Mrs. Hanna Dueter, formerly of 31 and 32 West Wayne street, will be surprised and interested to learn of their marriage, which took place a year ago in June, 1918, at which time Mr. Dueter departed for Los Angeles, Cal., to accept a government position in the ship yards. Miss Friedline accompanied him to Chicago, where they were united in marriage. The bride returning to this city several months ago Miss Dueter went west to join her husband and they are now residing in Calicut with the groom's mother and sister. Miss Hanna Dueter and Miss Deila

Heath-Connor. Tuesday, in the passage of the First M. E. church, Miss Frances Connor and Mr. Ernest Heath, both of Muncie, Ind., were united in marriage by the Rev. A. G. Neal. Mr. and Mrs. Heath left immediately for the nearby lakes to spend their honeymoon. Mr. Heath owns a garage at Muncie.

Bohde Family Reunion. The first annual reunion of the Bohde family was held the 30th day of August at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bohde in St. Joe township. A basket dinner was served at the noon hour, after which there was a short business session. The afternoon was spent with music and games. The next reunion will be held the last Sunday in August, 1920, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Christ Kammeier, in Washington township.

Evans Family Reunion. The Evans family reunion, which was postponed because of the death of a brother, will be held at the home of Harry Evans Sept. 13.

FEDERAL CONTROL OF COAL IS ADVOCATED

(By United Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Revival of war powers to fix prices and regulate distribution of coal to avert unjustified increases in prices was advocated today by Director General Hines before the senate subcommittee investigating the coal situation. He warned that coal men would use transportation difficulties as an excuse for raising prices this winter. Difficulties have been increased by abandonment of car pooling and zoning of shipments, thus requiring more cars to haul an equal amount of coal, Hines said. He urged extension of the Lever bill to give the government control over fuel and publicity as to the cost of coal at the mines and to retail dealers, so that public can protect itself.

When a Girl Marries

By ANN LISLE

CHAPTER CCXC.

(Copyright, 1919, King Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

We were in the midst of exclamations over my beautiful pearl ring when Bertha, my maid, appeared in the doorway and tremblingly asked if she could speak to me. The ring was loose on my finger, so as I started across the room I hobbled to the table and dropped the jewel into its box. Afterward I remembered that Bertha's eyes followed me intently as I reached the door the telephone rang, so, fingering over my shoulder, I asked Jim to answer it. I stepped out into the hall with my maid.

"I have to leave you to-night, Mrs. Harrison," said Bertha, in a voice that sounded husky, as if she had been crying.

"Why, Bertha?" I protested. "You wouldn't leave me without a minute's notice, would you?"

"I got to go to-night," she repeated.

"But I'm still limping around with my ankle in a cast. Surely you won't go," I urged. "What makes you think you must rush off like this?"

"I got to go to-night," Bertha insisted, monotonously.

The maid would neither explain her necessity nor change her plans. I gave her up as a bad job. When I returned to the living room Daisy was sitting there alone.

"The phone message was for Carl," she explained. "Your husband called him. Carl's getting so important now that he has to act like a doctor and leave his phone number wherever he goes. I wonder if you'll mind if I run along now?"

"Aren't you going to wait for Carl?" I asked, since it was just in order to have Carl carry out his engagement with Daisy and take her to dinner, even if alone, that I had invited her to call.

"No, what's the use?" she questioned bitterly. "Carl called off his party as soon as he found you weren't going to be there."

"Really, it wasn't that," I explained. "He only postponed the party until next week so that we could all be there."

Daisy turned on me with a steely flash in her eyes and a sudden firmness which gave her a personality, even though it was the personality of anger.

"He postponed the party for you? Everything's for you. An adoring husband. Jewels. That beautiful orchid negligee. Can't you leave Carl alone? He didn't matter to you back in the old days when you called him a big brother and took everything he had to give. He doesn't matter to you now. But you—you matter to everyone. Have you ever read the story of David and Uriah?"

And laughing insultingly at her own amazing words, she rushed from the room, in such a whirl of anger and energy that I didn't attempt to follow on my bandaged ankle. Limping into the hall, I called Jim and told him of Bertha's unwelcome announcement that she was going to leave.

"Suppose you try to persuade her to change her mind," I suggested.

Jim grumbled a little, but assented. As he went out to the dining room, where Bertha was setting the table, I followed to listen to him. But Bertha proved obdurate and secrete.

La-May Face Powder Is Harmless to the Most Delicate Skin

A specialist has at last perfected a pure face powder that positively will not cause enlarged pores, blackheads and irritations. In fact, while it is considered the best face powder, it is also a remedy for complexion troubles. It is guaranteed pure and harmless to the most delicate baby skin. It beautifies wonderfully because it helps to clear and lighten the skin and protect the complexion from blemishes. This new kind of face powder is made largely of an ingredient that skin specialists use in the treatment of the complexion. And it really stays on better than any other face powder. Of course, saying this, everyone knows we mean the famous La-May Powder (French: Poudre L'Amie). This is the powder that does not contain starch rice powder or dangerous white lead to make it adhere. White lead is a deadly poison and rice powder turns into a gluey paste that makes enlarged pores, blackheads and rice powder irritations. Because La-May is so pure and because it stays on so well it is now used by over a million American women. All dealers carry the large box, and many dealers also carry the small trial size. Be sure to try La-May. Then you will really know a perfect face powder. You will be sorry if you take a substitute. When you use this harmless powder and see how beautifully it improves your complexion, you will understand why La-May so quickly became the most popular face powder sold in America. Save this notice.

HAROLD'S boasts was an artist and little Harold used to go upstairs to his studio and see all the wonderful things his cousin painted. The other day while Harold was up there, poking about in a corner of the closet he came across an old brush and thought he'd like to be an artist too. His cousin showed him how to use the things he'd found and Harold was soon busy painting things on odd bits of old canvas. Follow the dots and see what it was that Harold found.

THE WISHING PLANE

By WILLIS WINTER

The children went to visit Edinburgh castle early in the day—you remember we left them in Edinburgh yesterday. The great castle sits high on a hill and the little folks had a wonderful view of the city from the towers.

Jack and Jane had seen castles before, but this one was larger. As they had visited and they noticed something different about it. All around the outside of the stone building was a very deep ditch, too wide for anybody to jump across. The only way of getting into the castle was over a bridge—a draw-bridge, Captain Brave called it. Then he told the children how the ditch was kept filled with water in the olden times. The knights, in their heavy armor, could not swim, of course, and therefore couldn't get across the ditch except by using the bridges.

These were built so that they could be pulled straight up on the castle side of the water so that no one could use them unless the king and his followers gave their permission. The bridges were kept raised all the time. Anyone who wanted to enter the castle had to call to the guards. If the guards knew them or the strangers had business in the castle the bridge was let down. If not the guards refused to lower it. Many clever schemes were tried by the enemy to get the guards to let the bridges down, the captain said.

From Edinburgh castle the children were taken to Holyrood castle, where all the kings and their families lived, you know. The children and their friends spent the next day in Edinburgh and then went to Dundee.

I'll have to tell you what interested the children most in Dundee. That was the great factories making ropes and bags. The factories buy boatloads and boatloads of flax and hemp every year and make thousands of miles of rope and millions of bags. These are shipped all over the world. The children went through one of the mills and saw how both are made from the time the material is brought into the factories until the ropes in balls and the bags in great bundles are shipped out of the factories. Next the children went to Aberdeen. The children quickly found out why Aberdeen is called the "Granite City." There are hundreds of granite "quarries"—which are about the same as mines—near Aberdeen and the city is mostly of the pretty stone-like blocks. It took Captain Brave only a couple of minutes to whisk the children from that city to Balmoral castle, the place where the beloved Queen Victoria of England spent many pleasant summer hours. Lady dear told the children all about the queen who ruled so kindly and graciously. The ship yards at Glasgow, Scotland's great seaport, visited next, and the children saw the great city located on the River Clyde. The huge harbor has been dug out so that ocean liners and all types of big boats can enter it and unload their passengers easily. There is much iron and coal in the land around Glasgow and it takes a great number of ships to carry these products away. Big manufacturing plants turn out goods for all parts of the world, too, so you can see how important the harbor is to the city. Copyright, 119.

Your grocer prefers to give you the bread he thinks best. It is human nature—and it is good business also.

We wanted Fort Wayne grocers, therefore, to make the intimate acquaintance of HOLSUM the first day. So we sent a loaf to every grocer's home and a letter asking that the new loaf be mentioned at the table—when served.

Grocers are closer than consumers to the bread supply. You can depend on it they know good bread when they see it and taste it.

HOLSUM has been cheerfully subjected to the acid test. The grocers have tried it themselves.

Reds And White Sox Are Probable Pennant Winners

BEST FIVE OUT OF NINE GAMES IN WORLD'S SERIES

Proposal to Change From Seven-Game Series Custom Arouses Criticism.

COMISKEY DISAPPROVES

(By United Press.) NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The Reds and the White Sox, probably pennant winners in the big circuits, probably will battle the best five out of nine games for the championship ship. Though the proposal of the national commission to change from the seven game series custom of the past has aroused a storm of criticism, it is reported enough sentiment in favor of it could be found among the managers to get the five necessary votes in each league.

Charles Comiskey, boss of the White Sox, who has been in line for many additional dollars by the lengthening the series, has expressed his disapproval of it. Col. T. L. Huston, part owner of the Yankees, is opposed to the change, and the anti-Johnson faction. However, if it comes down to inside politics there would be enough votes to down the triump.

No dissenting voices have been heard in the National League. Carry Herrmann will be for it, of course, because he is the father of the plan. Charles Ebbetts, boss of the Brooklyn club and John B. Foster, secretary of the Giants, have declared only in favor of it. And from all indications, the mail vote now being run will bring back eight "aye" votes. John Heydler and Ben Johnson, of the leagues, are for it.

VICTORY DAY AT THE VAN WERT COUNTY FAIR

It Took Six Heats to Find the Best Ones in the 2:20 Trot.

SOME GOOD TIME IS MADE

(Special to the News.) VAN WERT, O., Sept. 4.—Victory day at the Van Wert county fair, Wednesday, which was a reception to the world war soldiers and a mark of appreciation of the service they rendered their country, by the citizens of Van Wert county, with the civil war veterans and the Spanish war soldiers as guests of honor proved a wonderful success in every particular and drew the largest Wednesday crowd in the history of the fair, more than fifty-five hundred paid admissions. More than a thousand soldiers were served dinner in the grand stand and the meal consisted of a hot roast of fried chicken and all other things that are produced on the farms, in great plenty. The dinner was provided by the women of all parts of the county who were instructed by H. W. Clark, who had the management of the affair, how much of each kind of food to prepare and how many women and girls from each township would be expected to aid in the serving and the plan, preparation and service were literally perfect and Mr. Clark is receiving much credit for his unparalleled handling of the affair. During the meal hour each world war soldier and sailor of Van Wert county was presented a medal which is an exact copy of the medal which was presented to the soldiers of the World War. The medals were presented by the citizens of Van Wert county and John Paulding for the capture of Major Andre. An original of the revolutionary medal was procured for the fair. Sport World With James J. Corbett

By James J. Corbett (Copyright, 1919, King Nature Syndicate, Inc.) How long will Ty Cobb endure? The majority of baseball critics accord to the mighty Georgian the glory of being the greatest diamond athlete of all time. And it now begins to look as if he will prove to be the most durable.

Here is Cobb, battling in his fifteenth campaign, a veteran of veterans—yet he is leading the whole baseball world in batting, running bases with almost all the speed of his youth and his fielding in superb and spectacular fashion. Cobb today is almost as wonderful as at any time during his illustrious career.

In fact Cobb in 1919 is banging the horsehide for a mark far beyond his grand average—an achievement beyond anything that any other athlete has shown after 15 years in big league harness.

Anson, Keeler, Lajoie and Wagner—these are the only swatmen entitled to be mentioned in the same breath as the "Southern Typhoon." Each was a marvel, yet not one swept through fifteen campaigns and was found—in the 19th—playing baseball of the superlative kind. Each "slipped" once or twice over that long sweep of time. But Cobb never has slipped.

Anson broke into the 300 class in 1875 and for more than a dozen years he was a bludgeon artist of the most remarkable kind. But in 1890 the big fellow began to slip. He hit for only .311 that year and in the following two—1891, 1892—he couldn't reach the 300 mark.

And Anson's play around the first base station began to lose more and more of its brilliancy after a dozen years or so, and his legs, never speedy, slowed up just a little more.

But Cobb, playing his 15th year, is still the greatest ballplayer in the game. Wagner hit .300 or better for seven consecutive years. But after 14 his star began to set. He annexed his last batting championship in 1911. From then on he hit for marks far below his grand average. Up to that time, added years were slowing his legs and dimming his batting eye.

But here is Cobb, rapping the ball for nearly 20 points better than the remarkable average he made earlier.

Wagner for nearly ten years, hit for a grand total of beyond .340. But after 1908 he never again reached the 300 mark. Cobb's average was around .371 at the close of 1918. Yet Cobb, nearly 33 years of age, is whaling at the rate of nearly .380 in 1919. Wagner, after only 12 years in service, began tearing down his average. Cobb, in his 15th, is still building up.

Keeler was a 300 hitter for 14 successive years. But for only ten did he add to his grand average. In the 11th he began to slip, hitting only .318. The next year he reached .343 but in the 13th it was only .302 and in the 14th his mark was .304.

Lajoie hit .300 or better for 11 years in a row. Then, just as it began to look as if he was going to build up a grand batting average beyond anything in baseball history, the great Frenchman slumped. Each "slipped" once or twice over those 13 years—1897 and 1898—Lajoie failed to reach 300. His drop below that mark dealt a terrible blow to his average for 13 years. And from then on, through the rest of his career, Lajoie wasn't able to hit up to the mighty 11 year average made before 1907.

At some time or another, they've all slipped—but Cobb. For many years the "expects" have been predicting it for him, claiming the "law of averages" must prevail. But for fifteen years Cobb has been greater. And now, in 1919, when he ranks as one of the real veterans of the baseball world, the peerless Georgian is showing the way to every man who has entered the race against him.

SUN SHINES

(By United Press.) FOREST HILLS, L. I., Sept. 4.—The sun shone here this morning for the first time in several days and brightened the chances for play off of the national tennis championship between William M. Johnston, San Francisco and William F. Johnston, Philadelphia.

Other championship matches that seemed possible with the breaking of the weather link were the battles between Robert R. Johnson, and A. H. Johnson, Jr., Springfield, Mass., for the junior national championship and Fred G. Anderson, Brooklyn, against Clarence Ebbett, New York, for the veteran national championship.

Go into "Cupid's Doubles"

(By United Press.) NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Miss Mollie Harnett, former woman singles champion went into "Cupid's doubles" last night when she married Frank I. Harnett, New York.

The ceremony was performed in the chapel of a municipal building and was witnessed by Mrs. George Wightman, president of the Y. M. C. A., and Julian D. Myrick, assistant in the Y. M. C. A. He gave her age as 27. Her husband is 28.

"Clean Up" Your Soiled Hat

Don't discard your Hat because it's soiled. We will clean, block and shape it, give it a new band and sweat pad—if needed, and make it look like new. There will be few changes. Fall hats from last year's shapes. So bring in your last season's hat and get it ready for the opening of the fall season.

At a trifling cost we make any Hat give double service. Make a practice of having your Hats cleaned and renewed as often as you do your suits. It pays.

SEASON TICKETS WILL GO ON SALE FRIDAY

World War Vets Are Making Plans for Biggest Football Season in City's History.

THE GROUNDS ARE LEASED

Season tickets for the World War Vets campaign this fall will be placed on sale tomorrow by Frank L. King, who will be in charge of this end of the management for the Vets. The tickets will bear an eight game guarantee though the management is now almost certain of putting on ten games during the season. All aggregations brought here are to be high class, and the dickering of the managers now take in a number of the best outfits in the middle west.

Each of the four race events at the Van Wert county fair Wednesday revealed more than the minimum number of heats to determine the winners. It took six heats to find the best ones in the 2:20 trot and five heats to determine the speediest starters in the 2:15 pace.

The summaries of yesterday's races are as follows:

The 2:20 trot, purse $350.

JOHNSON TO EXPLAIN

(By United Press.) NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—After four postponements, Ben Johnson, president of the American League was to appear before a Referee George Gillespie this afternoon and explain several points demanded by Cois. Ruppert and Huston.

He was expected to answer charges that he holds a financial interest in the Cleveland club and that he was prejudiced in suspending Carl Mays, the Red Sox Yankee hurler. He was expected also to make a report of the expenditures of the league's sinking fund.

The SPORTLIGHT by Grantland Rice

Personal Mention.

Maurice E. McLoughlin, the California Comet, made his first appearance in Davis Cup matches in 1909, when he fell before both Norman Brookes and A. P. Wilding. He fell before Brookes again in 1911 and in 1913 he was toppled by Wilding in the English championship. A year later, in 1914, the Comet made his last stand and obtained a long-delayed revenge by upsetting both Brookes and Wilding within three days, one of the greatest lawn tennis achievements on record. The last stand against the two great Australians marked the crest of his game.

In the great human melodrama, "Youth Isn't the Entire Show," Edward V. Cioetto started his career with Augusta, Ga., the same season that Norman E. Brookes entered his first Davis Cup match. That was 1905, fourteen summers back along the trail that leads only to the dust-covered records of time. Cioetto began his career in the Sally Circuit that year by winning fifteen games and dropping nine. Brookes, facing faster company, lost to W. A. Larned and Seale Wright, the two great Americans, who around that period were at the peak. A number of episodes have taken place since Cioetto and Brookes opened their careers, but the killing pace of modern competition hasn't been able to shake them loose yet. Not quite.

Harry F. Salles and Tyrus Raymond Cobb are two other athletes who helped to make 1905 famous. It was in 1905 that Mr. Salles began to use his left arm in order to win ball games for Birmingham, while that same season, the glow in Mr. Cobb's batting eye attracted Detroit scouts and called that young man to his present berth. Mr. Salles and Mr. Cobb have been in polite baseball society these last fourteen years, will meet for the first time in about a month, in the world series spectacular drama entitled "Where Do They Get This Youth Stuff."

S. Dawson Herron, in winning a golf championship at 23, still finds four notables ahead of him when it comes to championships at tender years. H. Chandler Egan, Jerome D. Cravens and Robert A. Gardner were only 20 when they bagged the main amateur title, while Francis Outmit was only 21. Mr. Herron at 22 accounts for his late start in arriving because the war intervened and shut off all competition for three years. In order to make up for this lapse he almost overdid the situation by turning in the best medal play course as well as the best medal play card all week, thereby bringing the debate to a sudden and emphatic close. Walter J. Travis, victorious at the age of 43, is the oldest amateur golfer who ever mounted the summit over American turf.

Sherwood Nottingham Magee broke into big league base ball fifteen years ago with the Phillies. He missed entering five world series by an eyelash through various mishaps, shifts and trades. When finally planted with the Reds he surrendered all hope and gave himself over to a sedate and melancholy existence. Wasn't it Sir Gilbert Parker who wrote a novel called "You Never Know Your Luck"? Sir Gilbert must have had Mr. Magee in mind. Before the astonished slugger knew what it was all about the irrepressible Reds had turned him in or turned out and blown themselves to a pennant. The answer to this seems to be—all things come to him who can afford to wait fifteen years.

Back in 1932, just twenty-seven years ago, Chris Vonder Ahe and the St. Louis club called the National League champion Charles Comiskey managed that outfit and one of his pitchers was a stocky youth named William (Kid) Gleason. Comiskey and Gleason are still mates today, romping in the direction of another Chicago flag. The Kid in those days was on the same roster with Theodore Breitenstein, Frank Dwyer, Jimmy Gahm, Heine Peitz, Jack Glasscock, Phil Hawley, Berry Wenden, names that are now lost ghosts back in the early days of the game. Twenty-seven years ago—yet here is the sprightly Kid still emerging into his own, piloting a pennant winner under his old manager, a winner with a ball club that few believed could finish third. Some institution, the Kid. Some institution—plus.

CURTAIN WILL BE RUN DOWN ON THE 1919 SEASON SOON

Lincoln Lifers Will Play the Fast Van Wert Team Next Sunday.

DEFIANCE CLUB COMING

After next Sunday's game at League park but two more games will be played, when the curtain will be rung down on the 1919 season. Big crowds have been the rule at the old lot this season, and with the exception of the last two games when the Lincoln Lifes gave a drubbing to the Colored Giants and the Soldiers and Sailors club, the games have been fast and interesting.

Van Wert Next Sunday

The Van Wert All-Stars will be here next Sunday. This club trimmed the Lincoln Lifes on its last appearance here four weeks ago, the Lincoln Lifes taking the first encounter. Sunday will be the rubber game and Van Wert is coming to win. The Lincoln Lifes are going some right now, and it will take some fast work to stop the insurance men. Play will be called at 3 o'clock with Slatka and Dornick doing the umpiring.

Defiance Coming

The strong Defiance club will be here on Sunday, September 21. The club is playing Harry Carl's Paulding club next Sunday and both clubs are loading up for the event. A big delegation of Defiance fans are going to Paulding to see the game.

Bluffton Will Be Here

Bluffton will be here on Sunday, September 21, the last game of the season. Kyle, Sands, Moorman, Braden, Bowman and they will be remembered as an outfielder on the Port Wayne Shamrocks of several years ago, and other well known players are with Bluffton.

Three Last Games Good Ones

The coming of Van Wert, Defiance and Bluffton for the last three games of the season, means three good games for the wind-up. These clubs are all fast and every one of them will come to Port Wayne determined to stop the Lincoln Lifes.

"Junno, never was in yer afore.
We bin unrunnin' 'tween St. Louis an'
New Orleans, till the gov'ment took us. Maybe the captain kin tell yer sumwhar up Rock river, I reckon, wherever that is."

"We climbed the steep steps to the upper deck, and were met at the head of the ladder by the captain, evidently desirous of looking me over. He was a solidly built individual, wearin' white side whiskers and a bul-dous nose, and confronted me not altogether pleasantly.

"All right, are you? Water pretty cold yet, I reckon. Been stickin' on that snag long?"

"Several hours; but my boat was wrecked before we lodged there."

The captain laughed and winked aside at the mate.

"Seems to be a mighty populous river up this way, hey Maps?" he remarked genially. "Castaways round every bend."

"What do you mean? Have you picked up the keel boat?"

"Certainly have. Hit a keelboat twenty miles below."

"A keelboat operated by steam?"

"Couldn't say as to that. Was it, Maps? I don't know. I seen it when I got on deck. Had four aboard, but we got 'em all off an' stowed 'em back there in the texas. You better get along now and shuck those wet clothes."

The captain turned rather sharply away, and I was thrust through an open cabin door by the grasp of the mate before the rest had time to true. Maps paused long enough to gruffly indicate a coarse suit of clothes draped over a stool, and was about to retire without further words when I recovered sufficiently from the shock to halt him with a question:

"I suppose you saw those people picked up from the keel boat?"

"Sure," helped pail 'em aboard.
A d—4 queer combination, if you ask me; two nigger wenches, Joe Kirby an' a deputy sheriff from down
St. Louis way."

"Two women, you say? Both negresses?"

"Well, that's whut Joe said they was, an' I reckon he knew. However, one of 'em looked ez white as any body I ever saw. This deputy he tol' same story—said they was both slaves that Kirby got from an ol' plantation down here. French name, it was. Seems like the two wenches had run away, an' the deputy had caught 'em, an' was a-taking 'em back to the plantation. I seen him as how they belong, ter him."

"You knew Kirby, then?"

"H—I, ov course. Thar ain't many nigger men who don't, I reckon. What is it to you?"

"Nothing; it sounds like a strange story, that's all. I want to get this wet stuff off, and will be out on deck presently."

I was shivering with the cold, and lost no time shifting into the warm, dry clothing provided, spreading out my own soaked garments over the edge of the lower bunk, but careful first to remove my pocket of private papers, which, wrapped securely in oiled silk, were not even damp. Fate had played a strange trick, and I knew not how best to turn it to advantage. One thing only was clear; whatever was to be accomplished I would have to do it alone—nowhere could I turn. In the first place Kirby undoubtedly had the law with him, and besides was among friends—those who would naturally believe him as being loyal to the institution of slavery. The very fact that this was a Memphis boat we were on precluded any possibility that the crew would sympathize with a nigger-stealer. Nor could I anticipate any assistance from without.
Steamboats were few and far between on these northern waters, and at this time, if the report of war was true, everything abroad would be headed upstream, laden with troops and provisions. That the report was true I had no doubt. The probability of an outbreak was known before I left Fort Armstrong; the crisis had come earlier than expected, that was all.

This, then, was the situation—
through an odd intervention of Providence here we were all together on this steamer, which was steadily churning its way northward, every turn of the wheel bearing us deeper into the wilderness. The chances were that we should thus be aboard for several days; certainly until we encountered some other boat bound downstream. Meanwhile what should I do? How escape observation? How reach Rene, without encountering Kirby? The answer was not an easy
one. The duty would not know me, Kirby believed me dead, yet might recognize me in spite of that conviction if we met face to face. Still, would he? The hope that he might not come to me in a flash.
Might it not be possible to so disguise myself as to become unnoticed? I sprang up to stare at my features in the small mirror hanging over the washstand. The face which confronted me in surprise was almost a strange one even to my eyes. Instead of the smart young soldier, the Beaucaire en, with closely trimmed hair, and rather carefully attired, as I had appeared on board the Warrior, the glass reflected a bearded face, the skin visibly roughened and reddened by exposure, the hair ragged and combed. Even to my view there remained scarcely a familiar feature—the lack of razor and shears, the ex-posure to sun and water, the drowsy sickness and neglect, had all helped to transform me into a totally different appearing person from what I had formerly been; the officer and gentleman had, by the mystery of environment, been changed into the outward semblance of a river roustabout. Nor was this all. The new character was emphasized by the clothes I wore—far too large to fit, also the texture and color, not to mention the dirt and grease, speaking loudly of a rough life and the vicissitudes of poverty. The transformation was complete, so complete that I laughed aloud, assured by that one glance that the gambler, the man who had been dead, would never by any possibility recognize me in this guise, or while habilitated in such nondescript garments.

But the girl—Rene? And so this was how I had appeared to her. No wonder she questioned me, doubted my first explanation. I had approached her confident that my appearance as a gentleman could have within, but made no attempt to enter, passing on to the door beyond, which was unlocked. He must have come to the upper deck on some special mission, for he was out of my sight exactly a moment, returning immediately to the deck below. This occurrence merely served to make clearer in my mind the probable situation—the after cabin was undoubtedly occupied by Kirby, perhaps in company with the deputy; while next to them, securely locked away and happily to escape, were confined the two slave women. In order to reach them I must operate under the cover of darkness, and my only hope of being free to work, even then, lay in the faith that the gambler might be so involved in a card game below as to forget his caution. So far as Tim was concerned I felt perfectly capable of outwitting him; but Kirby was dangerous.

CHAPTER ELEVEN

The Story of Elsie Clark.

The next hours dragged deadly slow in spite of my pretense at steady work, and the fact that my thoughts were continuously occupied by a cautious whisper, sounding almost at my very ear, caused me to glance up quickly, startled at the unexpected sound I could perceive nothing, although I instantly felt convinced that whispering voice had issued from between the narrow slats defending the small state-room window. No one was in sight along the deck and the rag I was wielding hung limp in my hand.

"Who was it that spoke?" I ventured, the words barely audible.

"Ah did—the prisoner in the stateroom. Have both those men gone?"

"Yes, I am here alone. You are a woman?" You are Rene Beaucaire?"

"No, Ah am not her but Ah know
whar Rene Beaucaire is."

"You know? Tell me first who you are."

"Elsie Clark Ah am a mulatto a free negress. Ah bin helpin' Massa Shrunk, an' cookin' fer him. Yer know whut it was whut happened

down thar?"

"I know part of it at least—that Shrunk has been killed. I was at Shrunk's cabin and found the bodies.
Tell me exactly what occurred
there."

"Whut's yer name?"

"Steven Knox. I am a soldier.
Rene must have told you about me."
"No, sah, she never done tol' me nuthin'." Ah didn't much mo'n see her enyhow, fur as that goes."

"Not see her? Then she is not confined there with you?"

"Ah me." Dar ain't nobody confined ver wix me. Ah just int' at eyes on nobody since Ah done got on board 'cept de cook. Ah reckon dem white men aim fer ter tote me soufe

an' sell me fer a slave, dat's why Ah's locked up yere de way. But Ah sue does know whar dis yer Rene Beucaire wuz."

Where—

Wot sah, it was 'bout like dis
Long 'bout three o'clock in de morn-ning o' Bill Sikes cum up fum de lower pint a divvin his riveved wagon an' made Massa Shrunk git up out o' bed fer ter cum wif de team o' horses. Den dey done roused me up fer ter hustle up sum grub."

Sikes, who was Sikes?

He lives down in de lower pike,
sah, he's in abolitionist sch'."

Oh I see he and Shrunk worked together. He helped with the runaway slaves."

"Yes, sah Ah's bin cuffed up that way afore. So Ah just nat'ally want ter work cookin', an' putty soon dey all ov 'em cum strugglin' in ter de cabin fer ter eat. Dar was four ov
'em, sah, he's voice a husky whisper.
"Bill Sikes totin' a gun in his han', a free nigger whut dey called Pete, an' two wummin. De bigger one was a quadroon may be 'bout forty years ol', in de cabin she want much more'n

TAKE PEPSINCO

The best remedy for indigestion that ever came out of a drug store

You know that pepsin is good for indigestion but pepsin could never do what PEPSINCO will. We have dealt in medicines long enough to know the various uses and value. We unhesitatingly say that PEPSINCO is the best remedy for indigestion, gas, flatulency, food distress, sour stomach and pains under the ribs, that ever came out of a drug store. Sufferers of indigestion and dyspepsia will do well to take PEPSINCO.

Ask your druggist—he sells and recommends Pepsinco.

MAN'S BEST AGE

A man is as old as his organs; he can be as vigorous and healthy at 70 as at 35 if he aids his organs in performing their functions. Keep your vital organs healthy with

GOLD MEDAL HAARLEM OIL CAPSULES

The world's standard remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and uric acid troubles since 1896; corrects disorders; stimulates vital organs. All druggists, three sizes. Look for the name Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation.

LIVER ILLS MUST GO

If we expect to have health we must keep the liver active. An inactive liver upsets the whole machinery that runs the human body. The liver can not be sluggish without affecting the kidneys. When these two glands fail to remove the poison from the body every part of the body suffers because the blood becomes impure, the circulation sluggish and the digestion hindered. This poison within the body causes a languid, tired or aching feeling. The nerves suffer and we are in a miserable run-down condition. There is no use to let such conditions hang on and wreck the health when a good liver remedy may be had. Glando Tonic is a remedy prepared especially to tone up the liver and kidneys and put them back to a healthy condition. People who have suffered from liver and kidney troubles for years have found health by using Glando Tonic. If you are all run down and can hardly drag, give it a trial and you'll find it to be just what you need. Mrs. Mary E. Seider of Seymour, Mo., writes, "I owe my good health to Glando Tonic. I am not bothered with my liver, kidneys, heart or with dizzy spells since I have taken Glando Tonic. Every day says I look so well. I tell them Glando Tonic cured me." This medicine which cures, Mrs. Seider can be secured at drug stores or direct from The Glando-Aid Co., Fort Wayne, Ind. Large $1.00 treatments only.
